Plane Lost In Pacific With 58 Aboard

Navy Spurs Hunt After Cushion, Raft Are Found

8 Children Passengers; Green Flare Sighted But No Survivors Seen

HONOLULU (AP)—The Navy spurred a massive search today for survivors of a four-engine airliner which plunged into lonely Pacific waters with 58 aboard.

A green flare was sighted by a search ship just before midnight Sunday in the general area 350 miles east of Wake Island where the Transocean Air Lines DC-6B was last reported.

More than 10 planes converged on the spot, but the searchers, hampered by pitch darkness and rain squalls, reported no further sightings.

The green flare was the type carried in aircraft life rafts. An empty raft and seat cushion were found earlier on oily waters in the same area.

It was the first commercial transpacific plane crash in that section of the Pacific since World War II.

The Navy transport Barrett, one of at least 10 ships combing waters where the plane last reported its position, found an abandoned life raft and seat cushions it positively identified as coming from the liner.

Comdr. T. O. Murray, Hawaiian Sea Frontier operations officer and search coordinator, said there is a "good chance there is life around there."

"We will continue the search with that in mind as long as necessary," he said. "There was plenty of room on four other life rafts

UN Faces Harder Indochina War When Korean Fight Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Powers were confronted today with the prospect of intensified war in Indochina as the conflict in Korea slacks off toward a probable armistice.

Allied Planes Step Up Attack

7 MIGs Shot Down Sunday By Sabres

SEOUL (AP)—Allied Sabre jet fighter-bombers and light bombers took over the battle for Korea's barren hills today and slammed tons of high explosives into Communist front-line positions.

As ground fighting tapered off along the devastated 155-mile front, U. S. 5th Air Force planes roared through mist to strike the Reds at frontal areas where heavy action erupted last week.

Sabres hit Chinese trenches in the Kumson area of the East-Central Front and eight B26s hurled 1,000-pound bombs on Red positions near Old Baldy in west Korea.

Other light bombers concentrated on Chinese troops entrenched on battle-scarred Porkchop Hill, also in the West, which American troops yielded to the Reds Saturday night after five days of bitter fighting.

Sixty tons of bombs were dumped on Red lines by mid-morning, the Air Force said.

Results of the strikes were not immediately assessed. Sabre fighter pilots yesterday scored their biggest MIG victory ministers of the United States, Britain and France neared conclusion of Washington talks. Final discussion and firm decisions, if any, were still to be made on such diverse issues as Soviet policy, possible Big Three and Big Four conferences and Far Eastern problems.

The three were scheduled to resume full sessions this morning. The closing meetings will be held tomorrow. More two-way talks between the United States and France and the United States and Britain are also set for today and tomorrow.

At one such meeting at the home of Secretary of State Dulles yesterday, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told Dulles there has been a sharp increase in the amount of supplies being received by Communist forces in Indochina from Red China, beginning about three months ago.

U. S. officials noted that this timing roughly coincided with resumption of serious efforts for a truce in Korea.

At the same time, Bidault laid before Dulles, with obvious hope of increased American assistance, a plan just developed by the French commander, Gen. Henri Davarre, for going on the offensive against the Communists in Indochina.

Dulles, according to officials present at the conference, expressed great satisfaction at the aggressive attitude displayed in the Davarre plan. Informants had the impression that if the French carry it out they may expect favorable American consideration of requests for more dollar aid.

Officials reported that Bidault did not link the step up in the flow of Communist supplies to the imminent possibility of peace in Korea.

But Dulles made two points about the American attitude toward the connection between Korea and Indochina. He reiterated a joint American-French statement of last spring asserting that if the Reds took advantage of a cease-fire in Korea for aggressive action in Indochina, they would strike at the basis of the Korean armistice. And he cited a speech by President Eisenhower April 16 calling for peace, not only in Korea, but throughout the Far East.

665 Cases Of Hijacked Liquor Seized

CLEVELAND (AP)—FBI agents, swooping down on $34,792 worth of hijacked whisky today, arrested nine persons—including two Cleveland policemen.

The 665 cases of pints were being unloaded from a truck at 3801 Payne Ave., N. E., when agents moved in with the help of eight Cleveland police patrol cars and two police wagons.

Each of the cases contained 24 pints. Each bottle would have sold for $2.18 in an Ohio state liquor store.

The FBI said a truck pulled up at a liquor distributing center at Lawrenceburg, Ind., Saturday and left with the liquor. Later another driver arrived and said he was the man who should have received the shipment.

Early today the truck was spotted unloading here. Eight men—who were unloading the truck at a cafe—were arrested in addition to a barmaid.

Police Chief Frank W. Story relieved from duty the two arrested policemen—Kenneth A. Weir, 38, and Edward A. Reinhart, 30. Reinhart's wife, Doris, owns the state liquor department license for the cafe where the arrests were made.

Police investigated one traffic mishap over the weekend, between cars driven by Homer R. Roberts of Turtle Creek, Pa. and Charles L. Dougan, 30, of Alliance. Their autos collided on W. State at Howard at 7:15 p.m. Sunday, police said, causing only minor property damage.

Rhee Pledges ROKs Won't Obstruct Truce

S. Korea Chief Still Seeks Unified Nation, Correspondent Told

SEOUL (AP)—A well-informed source said today President Syngman Rhee has pledged in writing that South Korea will not obstruct an armistice and Rhee himself indicated his country has relaxed its demand for unification by force.

Rhee said in a statement that South Korea may change its methods but not its objective of unifying the country.

A well-informed source told Associated Press Tokyo Bureau Chief Robert Emsun that President Eisenhower's special envoy won sweeping concessions from Rhee, including the written pledge that South Korea would not obstruct an armistice. The source said that Robertson did not wish to embarrass Rhee by disclosing them.

Won't Free More POWs Rhee reportedly agreed not to free any more prisoners. His order freeing 27,000 POWs held by the Allies last month stalemated the nearly completed truce negotiations.

The envoy, Assistant U. S. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, refused to agree to Rhee's demand that the United States walk out of a post-armistice political conference if it failed to make headway in 90 days on unifying Korea, the source said.

In return, Emsun said, Rhee reportedly was assured that the United States would hold another top-level conference with South Korea—after a truce signing—to work out a joint policy and that the United States would defend South Korea if it were attacked.

These assurances, Emsun learned, were in addition to previous U. S. promises of economic and military aid and efforts to unify Korea peacefully.

Optimism for an early truce was strengthened also by an order of the U. S. Information Service dispatching its photographers to the truce conference site at Panmunjom "by Wednesday."

The picture was clouded, however, by a hostile Communist reaction to the result of Robertson's 12 conferences with Rhee, as reflected by correspondents at Panmunjom and broadcasts by the official Red radio, heard before Rhee's latest statement.

Robertson told newsmen on his arrival in Japan after his talk with Rhee:

"We do have agreement (with Rhee) to a point where we are ready to go ahead with an armistice and sign it."

However, he expressed concern over an interview published in the United States in which Scripps Howard Correspondent Jim Lucas quoted Rhee as saying:

"We will not accept the armistice, but we have agreed not to obstruct it for a period of three months."

Newsmen's queries on this interview prompted Rhee to issue the later statement in which he said method, but not objectives, of unifying Korea might be changed, and added, "Some questions require further exploration at another government level."

Pierce, Roberts All-Star Starters

CINCINNATI (AP)—Southpaw Bill Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and righthander Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils were named starting pitchers for Tuesday's 20th All-Star baseball game.

Manager Casey Stengel and Chuck Dressen said they were undecided about the second and third pitchers.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was listed as cleanup hitter for the American League which has lost the last three All-Star games. Big Ted Kluszewski, making his first All-Star appearance, was the No. 4 hitter for the Nationals.

House To Vote On Foreign Aid

Billion To Be Held Up Until EDC Is Formed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House votes a second time today to tell President Eisenhower he must withhold a billion dollars' worth of arms from Western Europe unless it forms an international army.

The vote comes on a compromise bill setting a $5,157,232,500 ceiling on foreign aid for the year ending next June 30. This is 314 million dollars less than the President asked.

The measure includes an amendment, by Rep. Richards (D-SC), earmarking half of European military aid—something over one billion dollars—for the incomplete European Defense Community (EDC) or a suitable alternate organization.

This is the strongest move Congress has taken in recent years at least to tell the President how to carry out his foreign policy.

The amendment was opposed by the administration because it calls for mandatory action. Senators finally accepted the proposal Friday after four days' secret debate in a Senate-House committee adjusting differences between the two foreign aid bills which had been passed earlier.

The real test for the President's program will come later this month when the actual appropriations are voted. Cuts up to two billion dollars are predicted.

The new total is $158,500,000 more than the House originally approved last month and $161,500,000 less than voted by the Senate.

The Richards amendment means, in effect, that if EDC has not been formed by 1956, when this year's funds will be spent for completed equipment, the United States will take another look to determine where to use these arms.

Frank Lutz Dies Of Heart Attack

Frank Howard Lutz, 59, of 761 Superior Ave., died suddenly at the Central Clinic Sunday at 1:45 p.m. of a heart attack.

He was born in Brady Township, Butler County, Pa. Sept. 5, 1894, a son of Daniel and Sarah Stine Lutz. He lived in Salem since 1914. A World War I veteran, he was a member of the Moose Lodge and the Mullins Foremen's Club.

He was employed by the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. for 30 years and was a foreman in the die shop. Survivors include his wife, the former Anna Mae Kaley whom he married Feb. 9, 1918; four sons, William J., Robert L., and John K. of Salem and Frank Jr., listed as missing in action in Korea; one daughter, Mrs. Donna Franks of Salem; six grandchildren; four brothers and one sister, William, Edward, John and Harry and Mrs. John Robinson, all of Pennsylvania.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Stark Memorial in charge of Rev. Fr. J. R. Gaffney. Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Friends may call at Tuesday evening at the Memorial.

Forty County Boy Scouts Leave For National Jamboree

Forty Boy Scouts and four leaders from Columbiana Council Boy Scouts of America, boarded a train at Youngstown's Erie station Sunday morning at 10:17 a.m., bound for the national jamboree at Irvine Ranch, Calif. A group of scouts also left from Mahoning Valley Council.

The boys were accompanied by George Robertson, scoutmaster of troop 16, who will be leader of Jamboree Troop 1, Section 8; Wilbur Spanabel of Columbiana, assistant explorer advisor of Troop 16; Jack Glover of Wellsville, scoutmaster of Troop 19; and Eugene Seelye of Chester, W. Va., neighborhood commissioner, who will be scoutmaster of Troop 2, Section 8.

Salem boys in the group are: Meredith Livingston, Bob Howard, Ralph Hanna, Richard Heston, John Buta, Bill Nyberg, Bob McArthur, Steve Wald, Nick Costa, Roy Nichols and Frank Heston.

Columbiana village scouts were Ronnie Zellers, Randall Bailey, Robert Maurer, Don Greiner, Robert Wonseller, Thomas Scott, John Murphy, Donald Fellers, Jack Dowd, Sam Walker, Lloyd Mackall and Jerry Allison.

Other scouts from the Columbiana Council, and their home towns are as follows:

East Liverpool—Richard Beaty, Robert Glenn, Gilbert Simpson, and James Richardson; East Palestine—James Sterling, Jack Turner, James Nulf, David Turken and John Turner.

Millport—Bryan Grubbs; Wellsville—Frank Tompkins, George Tompkins and John Comparetto; Newell W. Va.—Robert Glendening, and Lynn Haynes; Chester, W. Va.—Robert Hobbs and Herman Sayre.

The contingent will arrive in Santa Ana, Calif., Wednesday at 10 a.m.; attend the jamboree July 17 to July 23; and leave from East Los Angeles, Calif., July 26, to arrive back in Youngstown July 30.

Arrangements are being completed for the Salem Golf Club's annual clambake, scheduled this year for Wednesday, Aug. 5.

Alroy Bloomberg and Ray Reasbeck are co-chairmen of the committee which expects to limit the crowd to 300. More than 500 attended the event last year.

Others on the committee are T. Emerson Smith, Robert Oswald, William Sponseller and Ralph Ad. Martin.

Single-Auto Accident Kills Pair Near Lisbon

2 Salem Men Among Five Injured In Depot Road Crash

Seven automobile accidents investigated by State Highway Patrolmen Saturday and Sunday took two human lives, hospitalized five persons and injured two others.

Dead are: Harold Leum, 63, of Milwaukee, Wis. and James Hugh-dahl, 68, of Everett, Wash.

Both were pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital of crushed chests and internal injuries after the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree on Route 30, four miles west of Lisbon, at 7:45 p.m. Saturday.

Investigating patrolmen said the driver, Harold Leum, apparently lost control of his car on a curve, ran off the right side of the road and smashed into a tree.

The car, traveling west on the busy highway and apparently at a high rate of speed, was completely demolished, patrolmen reported.

Five Hurt In One Mishap The five hospitalized persons, one a seven-year-old girl, were seriously injured in a head-on crash on the Depot Rd., three miles south of Salem, at 1:40 p.m. Saturday.

The injured, all at the Salem City Hospital today, are: Denise Hanna, 7, of Lisbon, in fair condition with a fractured left leg and right ankle, lacerations of the right knee and chin.

Eugene Cooper, 18, of Dalton, Ga., fairly good condition with a fractured right leg and multiple lacerations of the head.

Alvin Parker, 20, of 583 Pershing St., fairly good, with a severed ligament and artery of the left wrist and deep lacerations of the lips and tongue.

Herschell Cochran, 18, of 593 Perry St., fair, with a fractured skull, possible fractured ribs, contusions of the left shoulder and lacerations of the left shoulder.

Howard Ott, 29, of Youngstown, in fair condition with multiple fractures of the ribs and lacerations of the left eye.

Drivers of the two cars involved in the mishap were Cochran and Ott. Denise Hanna was a passenger in Ott's car and the other two injured persons were riding with Cochran.

Cars Crash Headon Patrolmen said Ott was traveling north on the county road and Cochran south when Ott attempted to pass a truck on the crest of a slight hill. The cars crashed head-on, completely demolishing them, patrolmen said.

Neither car left the road, however, but remained upright after the smashup.

Ott was arrested for passing without the assured clear distance and will be tried on that charge pending his release from the hospital.

Two other persons were injured

400 Attend Second Outdoor Worship

An estimated 400 people in 156 cars attended the second Sunday morning worship service at the Salem Drive "In Theater yesterday. The car total is an increase of 44 over the first Sunday, July 5.

Among the comments heard after the service conducted by Rev. C. Clare Davis, Methodist minister, and the choir of that church, were "we like this opportunity to bring the children and not disturb others," "an excellent service" and "we would like these services continued."

Represented in the congregation besides Salem were people from East Palestine, Mantua, Columbus, Sebring, Malvern, East Cleveland, Beaver Falls, Brookville, and Pittsburgh, Pa.; Scarsdale, N.Y.; Kings-ton, Mass., and Appleton, Minn.

The services will continue through this month under the sponsorship of the Salem and Vicinity Ministerial Association. Rev. Harold Winn of the Friends Church assisted in yesterday's service and Lt. Donald Seiler of the Salvation Army led in the singing.

Celebrations To Begin Saturday

Lisbon Sesqui To Be Biggest Event In Village's History

LISBON — With Lisbon's Sesquicentennial only five days away, committees and officials are busier than the proverbial "cranberry merchants" making last minute plans for the greatest celebration the county seat has ever seen.

Almost every one of the village's 3,293 citizens are serving on the numerous committees planning the gigantic affair which will open July 18. It will continue through July 26.

Lisbon was laid out and incorporated as a village in February, 1803, the same year Columbiana County was granted a charter and the state was admitted to the Union.

Although numerous fanfare, such as beard - growing and selling of old-time hats, has been going on for several weeks, the planned program will officially get underway Saturday, July 18, with the dedication of the new Canton Bridge in the afternoon and muzzle-loader turkey shoot in the morning.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche will officiate at the ceremonies following a luncheon at the Salem Golf Club.

Another highlight of the first day will be a drum and bugle corps contest in the evening at the Lisbon Memorial Stadium.

Sponsored by the American Legion the contest will feature corps from New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. About eight outfits are scheduled to appear to compete for $1,900 in cash prizes.

The rifle shoot will be held at the Fairgrounds with contests also listed for persons owning modern type rifles.

Also listed for the first day is a concert by the High School Band, unveiling of historical displays in the windows of local merchants and the opening of a county-wide museum at the McKinley School.

On Sunday, July 19, the celebration will pause in its merry-making to observe "Religious Heritage Day" with a community

U. S. To Deliver Food To E. German Border

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today American food is being delivered to the East German frontier despite the Soviet Union's rejection of President Eisenhower's offer to deliver 15 million dollars worth of food to the Red-controlled German area.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower's offer "still stands," and said shipments of food "are in the process of being sent to the American zone of Berlin and to Allied-occupied points of West Germany."

Asked what plans, if any, the administration has for shipping the food into East Germany, Hagerty said any details would have to come from the office of Harold E. Stassen, director of the Mutual Security Agency.

No Change Seen In Red Policy

Beria Arrest Doesn't
Alter Plans, Claim

VIENNA (AP) — Four weekend developments have convinced Western experts here that Lavrenty Beria's downfall means no change in the major outlines of Soviet policy.

The Reds, they say, will keep up their present "soft" approach to the enslaved satellites and the West, but their long-range aim still is to weaken and then destroy the West.

Vienna diplomats, described by recent visitor Adlai Stevenson as some of the best informed experts outside Russia, said Beria's arrest is important, but that it is only one move in a far more significant and dangerous Kremlin game.

"The new Russian rulers are still out to win the world," said one high-ranking Western observer. "The soft look is a temporary look to deceive two groups of people—the Western Powers and the enslaved masses of communism. Beria's arrest is part of this plan. When the time is ripe, Russia can and will throw it all overboard and the West had better watch out."

Meanwhile, these experts said, these developments show there will be no change in the policy of trying to win friends by niceness:

1. Hungary's Communist leader, former Premier Matyas Rakosi, announced Saturday night that there is to be no let-up in the new velvet glove policy toward Hungarian workers.

2. Moscow's Communist party newspaper Pravda declared that Beria had obstructed agricultural plans designed to improve the food situation and had failed to remedy legal injustices.

3. The Soviets ended martial law in East Berlin.

4. Communist Bulgaria agreed with Yugoslavia to set up a mixed commission to investigate border incidents.

All of these developments occurred after announcement of Beria's arrest. Between the time of his seizure—supposedly on June

Polio Hits 152 In 2 Counties In N. Carolina

HICKORY, N. C. (AP)—A polio epidemic continued to hold a vice-like grasp on two western North Carolina counties as the number of victims climbed to 152.

Four have died from the disease in the worst local epidemic since 1944.

Two new cases reported in Catawba County yesterday brought the total there to 44 within the past month. Neighboring Caldwell County, which last week inoculated nearly 13,000 children in a mass inoculation program, reported three new cases yesterday. The total in the county is 108.

One dead was reported by the Caldwell County health officer, Dr. William Happer, yesterday. Three have died in Caldwell this year and one in Catawba.

A mass inoculation program, duplicating the one in Caldwell, is being planned for Catawba. It will start either Wednesday or Thursday, depending upon the arrival of 25 gallons of gamma globulin which has been allocated the county. Children 10 and under will receive the shots.

Student Nurse Assists As Brother Is Born

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—Miss Virginia Kaloyanides, 20, a student nurse, assisted in a birth at Somerville Hospital yesterday — and then rushed to a telephone.

Waiting for the call were her father, Clement, and her 10 younger brothers and sisters.

The patient was Virginia's mother, who gave birth to a boy weighing 10 pounds 5 ounces.

Ohio Farmer Named To Federal Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Carl R. Arnold of Hilliards, O., to be governor of the Farm Credit Administration.

Arnold, a former Agriculture Department official, would succeed Ivy W. Dugan, who recently resigned.

Arnold, 62, was nominated for the remainder of a six-year term which began last June 15.

From 1933 to 1939 he was deputy production credit commissioner of the Farm Credit Administration. From 1939 to 1951, when he retired, he was production credit commissioner.

Arnold also has served as professor of agricultural economics at Ohio State University. He owns two farms near Hilliards. He is a Republican.

British Close Egyptian City In Hunt For Missing Airman

ISMAILIA, Egypt (AP) — Machine gun-armed British Tommies cordoned off the strategic Suez Canal town of Ismailia today and announced they would search all persons entering or leaving the town until a British airman missing since last Thursday turns up.

Armed Egyptian troops at once took up posts around all government buildings in the town, near Britain's main Suez Canal zone base, but the headquarters of Egypt's Army said they were only "routine patrols" and would "avoid any friction with the British Army."

There were no immediate reports of any violence, through crowds of angry Egyptians gathered at the British roadblocks.

The British charged the missing soldier had been abducted and that they believed at least one Egyptian official had been involved. The Egyptians denied the charge.

President Mahomed Naguib summoned his Cabinet into emergency session in Cairo. Reports were current that a state of emergency had been proclaimed in the capital and in Ismailia, but the Army headquarters in Cairo denied this.

An Army spokesman said the Egyptian troops in Ismailia were "armed only for defense" and that the town was "fully under the control of the British forces."

To the British claim that their missing airman had been kidnapped the Egyptians countered today with an announcement that British soldiers at a checking post near Ismailia kidnapped an Egyptian secret policeman this morning. No other details were given.

An Egyptian government communique said the British had announced all persons going in and out of Ismailia would be searched for arms and those carrying them without a permit would be detained.

Robertson—David Brown Robertson, but better known simply as DBR—joined the brotherhood in 1899, four years after taking his first railroad job with the Pennsylvania at Youngstown, O., near his birthplace at Austintown.

Columbiana

Historical Group Planned

First Meeting Set For Library Tonight

COLUMBIANA — A meeting for the organization of a historical society in Columbiana will be held in the public library at 8:45 to-night following meetings of the service clubs.

One of the aims is to preserve for future generations some of the antiques of the early life of the community. Columbiana will observe in 1955 the 150th anniversary of its establishment as an organized community, having been laid out as a town by Joshua Dixon in 1805, but settlers had gathered here before the century. One of the mementos of earlier times that has been preserved is one of the old kerosene oil street lamps in use until the early 1880's, perhaps the only one surviving.

ATTORNEY Robert Manchester, Youngstown, new director of Rotary Internationale, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club this evening and will report on the Paris convention. Elmer Detwiler, Jr., is program chairman.

No program is planned for the meeting of the Kiwanis Club in Pavilion 2, Firestone Park, this evening.

SUNSET TEMPLE, Pythian Sisters, will have a picnic for members, families and friends, and for Columbiana Lodge, K. of P., and families and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bregar, near North Lima, on the Woodworth-New Springfield Road, Wednesday evening, with covered supper at 6:30. There will be entertainment for the children.

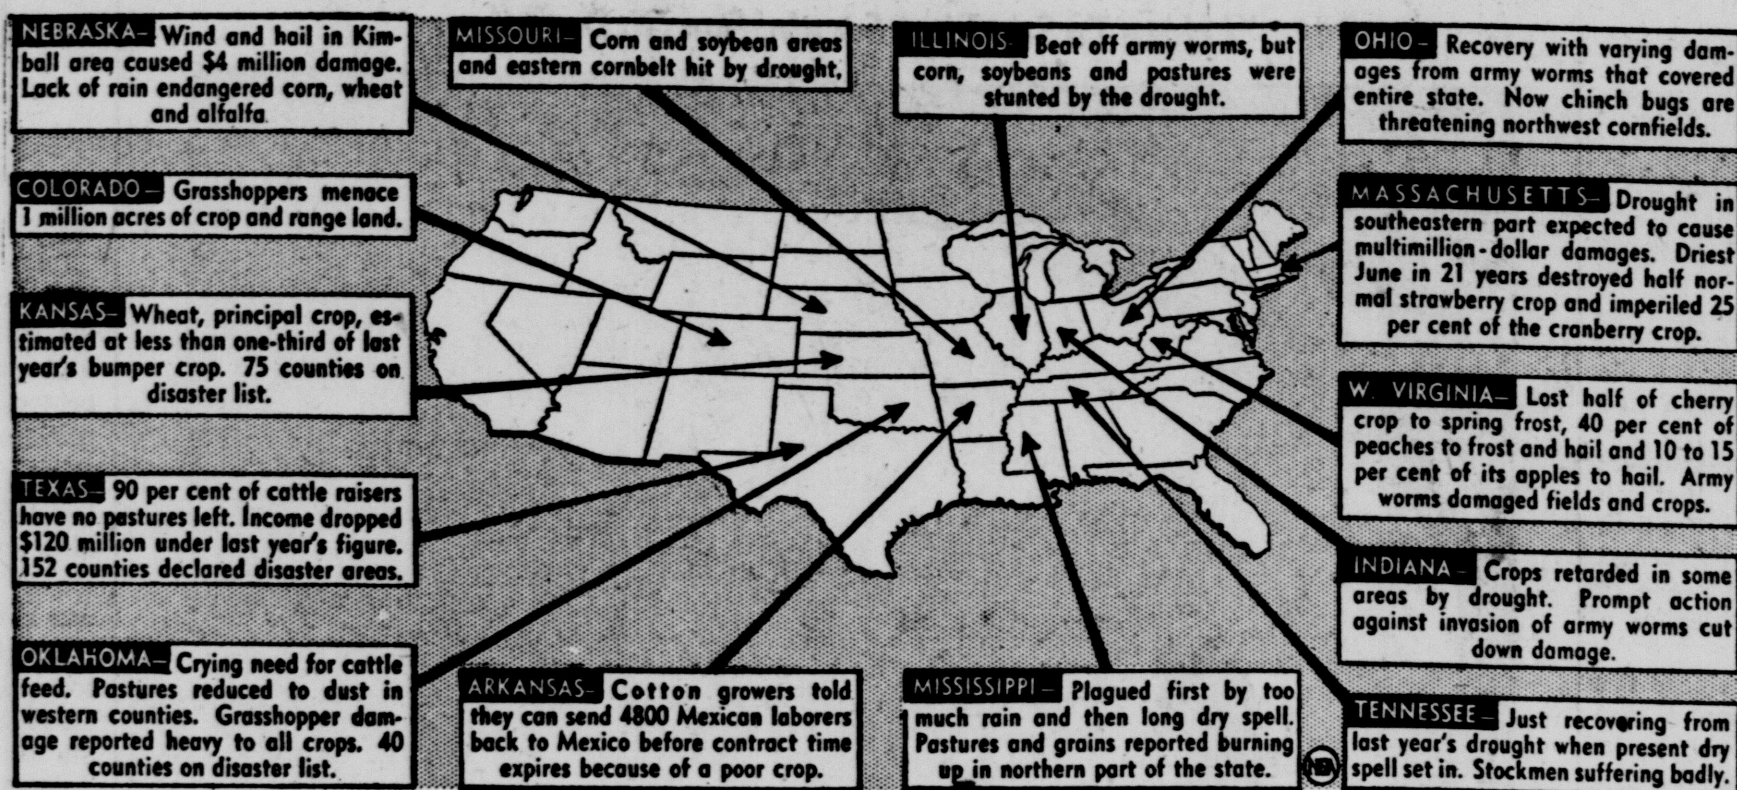

Wilmer J. Eaton is grading his 10 acres at Routes 7 and 14, east of town, to enlarge the parking space around his service station and for installation of an underground bulk gasoline station for the Peake Service Co.

Sgt. Robert Workman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Workman of East Fairfield, a veteran of World War II, and the fighting in Korea, is now on duty in Germany.

Friendly Folks of Jerusalem Lutheran Church will have a basket picnic in Firestone Park at 5 p.m. Tuesday and the Daughters of the King will meet in the church at 8 p.m.

Ed. I. Snyder, 93, native of Columbiana who served as postmaster years just before and just after the turn of the century, now of Miami, Fla., is visiting in this vicinity. He expects to meet in Salem his sister, Mrs. Margaret Kepner, 94, also a native of Columbiana, who is coming from Chevy Chase, Md.

Columbiana Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and Allen Lodge No. 276, F. & A. M., will have a covered dish picnic in Pavilion 4, Firestone Park, at 6 p.m. tomorrow. Of-

Above newsmag shows states hit by the worst ravages of drought and pestilence in the past 21 years. Farmers in the southwest battling their fourth year of drought have been hardest hit. To help the farmers in their distress, the Eisenhower administration has approved $8 million in federal aid for areas in the south and southwest.

Reuther Raps Raiding By AFL Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther says a campaign by the AFL Teamsters Union to take over CIO brewery workers may kill a long-proposed merger between the giant AFL and CIO labor organizations.

In an angry statement made public at CIO headquarters here yesterday, Reuther declared that a "series of raiding excursions" led by AFL Teamsters President Dave Beck "have in effect repudiated" recent CIO-AFL efforts to agree to a ban against "raids" on each others' membership.

Such an agreement, which had been tentatively reached between top CIO and AFL leaders, has been regarded as a necessary stepping stone toward a merger between the two groups.

Miss Universe To Be Selected This Week

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Beauty queens from 22 foreign lands, 42 states plus Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico vie this week for the title of Miss Universe.

The glamor festivities began with a parade yesterday as hundreds of thousands lined the streets to view the contestants. Actual judging starts tomorrow with preliminaries for the Miss United States contest. The winner will be chosen Wednesday.

Then Miss United States and the winners from the other nations participate in Miss Universe preliminaries Thursday. The grand prize winner will be selected Friday.

2 Conservative Dems Seek Virginia Election

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Two stalwarts of Virginia's conservative Democratic organization do battle at the polls tomorrow for the party's nomination for governor.

The candidates are ex-Rep. Thomas B. Stanley, 62, of Henry County, and State Sen. Charles R. Fenwick, 52, of Arlington. Studiously avoiding any criticism of the party organization headed by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), they have waged a campaign long on handshaking but short on issues.

Tomorrow's winner will move on to November's general election as a solid favorite to defeat Republican nominee Ted Dalton, a state senator from Radford, despite rumblings of a GOP resurgence.

The Democratic gubernatorial nominee generally is regarded as a shoo-in.

Woman Meets Daughter After 30 Years Apart

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Forbord, 52, cried yesterday—just as she did 30 years ago—but this time the tears were for joy.

In 1923 she left her two daughters and a son in an Oklahoma orphanage after her first husband left her. She said she wasn't able to locate the son, Glenn. Still missing is her other daughter, Thelma, who was 4 when the family broke up.

Yesterday she saw one daughter, Lillian, for the first time since the parting.

Lillian, now Mrs. John Tricarico, 32, of Norfolk, Va., came here with her two children for the reunion.

Mrs. Forbord previously had located the son, Glenn. Still missing is her other daughter, Thelma, who was 4 when the family broke up.

There is a persistent, but untrue, rumor that you can tell the age of a rattlesnake by counting his rattles.

Leetonia

Booster Club Will Elect Officers

LEETONIA — Hazen Hunter and Dr. Paul H. Beaver have been nominated for president of the Community Boosters Club. Charles Couchie and Patrick Tortora have been nominated for vice president; Merle Reese and Jack Ripley for secretary; Jack Rose and Frank Guerrier for treasurer.

Nominations for executive committee with five to elect are Charles Couchie, Dr. Guy Nicolette, Harry Fenstermaker, Alfred Altomare, Charles Stelts, Joseph Bernard, Russell Franklin, Harold Cleckner, J. Leland Helt.

Ballots with the names of the nominated officers appearing on them will be mailed to the members. These ballots are to be returned to the secretary or taken to the next meeting, Wednesday, Aug. 5.

No Security Without Allies

The newest commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, was making it plain to correspondents in Seoul a few days ago why South Korea couldn't carry on the war against the Communists alone.

"The Eighth Army is built like an automobile," he explained. "An automobile missing important parts either does not run at all, or, at the most, runs with greatly impaired efficiency."

In other words, South Korea must have allies. At the same time, a correspondent for The New York Times was explaining why the United States couldn't carry on the Korean War alone. It must have allies, too.

Besides South Korean fighting troops, which comprise the bulk of the Eighth Army, South Korean service troops have been performing the bulk of the behind-the-lines work. If they quit, or if some ghastly blunder caused them to be driven to arms against the United States, the anti-Communist effort would bog down. The New York Times reports it would be a miracle if American troops could be evacuated if the decision to abandon the war were made.

This has not been as obvious as it should have been. It has not been hinted at previously by those who are still talking as if the United States needed no allies, in Korea, elsewhere in Asia, or in Europe.

It may occur to some of them in this connection that the original purpose of the United Nations was to gain and hold allies for mutual security.

If it can't be done that way, it must be done some other way which people who would prefer to do everything single-handedly might find even harder to bear.

Dr. Johnson Resigns

If President Eisenhower is lucky, all the good men he rallied last winter for his crusade to clean up the mess in Washington will keep their health and their temper. They will keep their sense of proportion and their sense of humor.

But the President will need to be lucky. The resignation of Dr. Robert L. Johnson as head of the International Information Administration, a branch of the Department of State, is an ill omen for the Eisenhower crusade.

Dr. Johnson's health broke, he explains, under the burden of a job he had held since last February. The burden was turned into a crushing one by refusal of State Department critics inside the Republican party to hold their fire until the Eisenhower administration had a fair chance to show what it was able to do.

Dr. Johnson tried to stay two jumps ahead of the critics with a long series of directives to the outposts of his far-flung department. But even his good intentions backfired. The directives were misunderstood, misinterpreted and misconstrued.

The upshot of this confusion was the book-banning controversy which has added its inflammatory bit to the hotting temper of the times.

Dr. Johnson leaves Washington with a heavy heart. Like all the others who arrived to help President Eisenhower last February with high hopes, he is sadder and wiser. Cleaning up the mess in Washington would have been a Herculean job under the best of circumstances. Under the worst of circumstances, it would make even Hercules wonder about the state of his health.

Net Total For Foreign Aid

Harold E. Stassen is the only top-flight member of the Eisenhower administration who is being expected to work himself out of his job.

As director of the Mutual Security Administration, which handles foreign aid, he has been warned by Republican congressional leaders that by this time next year the terminal date for the MSA program will have been reached. Congress, thereafter, will make no additional contracts. Foreign aid will be at an end, except for fulfillment of contracts in existence.

Europeans have known for a long time that foreign aid was on the wane and have been discounting the blow with high-resolve talk about trade instead of aid.

That is why continuation of reciprocal trade authority was important to them; it was Europe's sole chance to get trade as a substitute for aid.

But here at home the only discounting so far is vague talk about new grants for "specific purposes and the dumping of agricultural surpluses abroad out of humanitarian motives."

Yet, according to the office of business economics in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, net foreign aid from July 1, 1945, to Dec. 31, 1952, reached a total of $37,612,000,000. That staggering amount of goods was sent abroad at public expense, having first been taken out of the home market where they had been produced under the profit system, with wage earners, management and capital sharing the returns.

If a program of such magnitude is to end a year from now, it will be more than the European beneficiaries who will need to be concerned with taking up the slack.

Atomic Warfare

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

Quick Knockout By A-Bomb Viewed As Improbable

WASHINGTON—Top Pentagon intelligence officers do not believe that Russia is "planning" an attack on the United States.

Neither do they accept the air power premise that World War III, if it comes, can be ended in a matter of weeks by the side delivering the first and biggest atomic bomb load on enemy cities.

These are intelligence premises on which Defense Secretary Wilson and his deputy, Roger M. Kyes, have prepared their "economy" military budget. They also underlie the call for a "new look" by the new Joint Chiefs of Staff at the nation's strategic planning.

The new theories, important because they come from the experts who have the confidence of the new Pentagon regime, were outlined by one of the men responsible for the intelligence briefing of Kyes and Wilson.

Basic in the approach are several fundamentals: That Russia is the immutable enemy, dedicated to the destruction of America;

That the Russians are tough and militarily strong;

That global war, though not wanted by Russia, could come by accident, and,

That, while guarding against accidental World War III, America must continue to spend billions countering what Kyes has referred to as "imperceptible war," i. e., subversion, sabotage, threats and fighting on secondary fronts designed to weaken America economically and militarily.

The intelligence group also believes that, after having ignored for too long the Russian danger, the public has been oversold on the inevitability of an atomic World War III.

They recall events which followed V-J Day:

While the West demobilized and dismantled its war machine, the Russians kept and improved a regular military force of 2,500,000 soldiers, 700,000 airmen and 500,000 sailors. Their arms plants stayed in full production.

During those years, while America dozed, this officer emphasizes, Russia's 175 available divisions faced no Western European opposition. Yet she did not move.

Now, it is claimed, the situation is changed. NATO air and ground forces, while they could not resist the reserve strength Russia could commit, could hold long enough to permit the total destruction of the Saar and Ruhr.

"When she got them," he states, "she would gain only the liability of another occupied people to be kept in control. Just as the oil fields of Southeast Asia were so demolished before Japanese invasion that they are only now returning to production, so, for a decade, could the Ruhr and Saar be made worthless."

The currently popular pentagon evaluation recognizes, and denies, the opposition argument that continued Russian stockpiling of materials and fighting men is a build-up to fight a long world war without matching American productive ability.

Its authors argue that the Russian build-up is dictated by its own defense needs and its desire to maintain a military threat aimed at America.

But why, as feared Symington and Gen. Vandenberg, could not the Russians get their quick victory by a sudden atomic descent?

on American cities and military bases?

The answer of the Pentagon intelligence men is that neither the United States, nor Russia, has the capability of such a sudden and war-winning atomic blitz.

Now intelligence interpreters contend the opposite: that the chance of American, or Russian, military potential being pulverized in a single atomic raid is one of the least-likely eventualities of a new war.

Instead, they have convinced the military's civilian command that another world war would be a long, hard, dirty job. They believe that, for that reason, Russia does not want one and have urged the "new look" at military strategy built until now on an assumption of an approaching "peril year," when Russia would be likely to launch a knockout swing.

They say, the Russian military mind still regards air power as long range, or extended, artillery. As recently as 1948 this theory was developed in a Kremlin paper that fixed at something under 1,500 miles the area of maximum efficiency of bombers operating ahead of front combat lines.

This, it is claimed, is the thesis accepted by British intelligence which has argued consistently that Britain and Western Europe not the United States, would be the initial war target of Russian atomic bombers.

Building their theory, the men on whom Wilson and Kyes rely note that Russia still does not have in production a long-range bomber. Their biggest bomb carrier, the TU-4, is a modification of the wartime B-29 which we now call a "medium" bomber because its 5,000-mile range precludes a round-trip run from the United States to Moscow.

To get to and away from Moscow by the shortest route, an American bomber pilot would, for 1,100 miles, be a vulnerable target over Russian-controlled territory. Coming in over the North Pole at 500 miles an hour, he would be 11 hours over Russia on a round-trip Moscow run.

Even Russia's lack of a radar-directed night interceptor must be discounted on the assumption that, if she should touch off World War III, it would likely come during the summer, when Moscow's defenders enjoy 18 hours a day of daylight visibility.

"No one can deny," says the brief, "that our strategic bombers are the world's best, or minimize their importance in an assembly of weapons which can hurt Russia, but we can't risk our existence on the assumption that big bombers can end a war with Russia as soon as it starts."

The intelligence men believe that Russia knows these "facts." They assume that, unconvinced of the feasibility of quick victory, and denied by NATO build-up of their chance to seize and support a protracted war with Germany's Ruhr and Saar valley industries, the Russians are not "planning" a World War III.

They caution that war could come "by accident." They are sure that, lacking confidence in favorable results from global war, Russia will continue piecemeal war by attrition to neutralize America or destroy it economically.

Retirement Age Going Up

By THOMAS R. HENRY

The widely accepted retirement age of 65 for employees may soon be raised to 70, with certain readjustments of present arrangements.

The arbitrary age of 65 as that at which one's abilities are rapidly declining was based on statistics compiled about 25 years ago when industrial retirement plans for the majority of workers were in their infancy. Since then there has been a notable extension in average length of life and in the health of older people through medical advances.

This was reported before the American Medical Association by Dr. Charles E. Dutchess of New York at the AMA convention last week in that city.

There are now, he said, approximately 340 retirement plans in operation. Nearly all are based on the arbitrary 65-year limit.

They are joining an army which now numbers 13 millions and will be crowding 17 millions by 1960. They then will constitute almost 14 per cent of the population.

There also will be about 27 millions under 15 and thus barred from industrial employment. This will leave only about 63 per cent of the nation's population to do all the work, Dr. Dutchess said.

Advance of the arbitrary retirement age to 70, he stated, "seems logical from medical and broad economic standpoints in view of the great advances made in controlling disabling conditions due to infections and considerable progress made in many metabolic and degenerative diseases."

It now is believed, said Dr. Dutchess, that the average person uses only about 25 per cent of his physical capacity in his daily work and individuals show enormous capacity to bring other abilities into play if they become partly disabled.

Some Mexican birds nest in trees the trunks of which are surrounded by wasps' nests and form a protection from monkeys, raccoons and opossums.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"If I don't turn it on, the lawn will die of thirst—and if I do, every kid with a bathing suit will be running across my yard!"

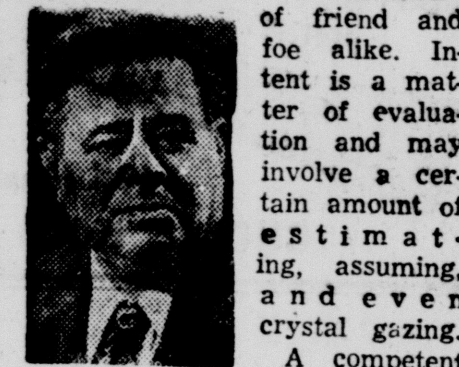

"I Hate To See That Evenin' Sun Go Down"

The Office Of Strategic Services

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The main purpose of an intelligence organization of any country is to gather, evaluate and utilize information on the intent of friend and foe alike.

Intelligence organization does not rule out any possibility; it tries not to be caught short and then have to alibi its failure to forecast the conduct of other nations.

It exists to do forecasting and its officials are paid to do precisely that.

The public and even the press know very little about the intelligence activities of our country. They are necessarily secretive and should remain so.

IT USED to be that the Army, Navy, and State Departments functioned independently, gathering their own data and making their own estimates. When this system was in vogue, each department sent copies of data to the others; but each made its own evaluations.

In World War II, the OSS came into existence as a super-espionage organization to specialize in difficult operations. It was over-advertised and glamorized which is never necessary for espionage. That spy is best who is least known or noticed.

A hidden organization can become overt through a minor indiscretion, thus imperiling the lives of agents, or instance, the single defection of Guzenko in Canada led to the exposure of the whole of Soviet Russia's espionage apparatus in the Western world.

FINALLY, the Central Intelligence and espionage. The CIA is a large, independent arm of government with a huge budget. If its judgments and evaluations are correct, it can be of the greatest value and whatever is spent on it is justified.

If its estimates are wrong and the agencies of government, from the President down, operate on incorrectly evaluated data, then the danger to the country can be enormous.

Therefore the CIA, which gathers, eliminates and evaluates both strategic and tactical data, is a tremendously important agency of government.

At present, the CIA is managed by Allen Dulles, brother of the secretary of state. His predecessor was General Walter Bedell Smith, now under secretary of state and one of the closest advisers to Gen. Eisenhower.

IT IS QUITE clear from all available data that the intent of the Germans to attack in what came to be known as the Battle of the Bulge could have and should have been known.

American intelligence was inadequate, particularly as to the intent of the Germans. There are many explanations of why we failed to know the German intent, but none of them is even plausible.

To cite two more instances: it should have been known, in the early stages of the Korean War, that Chinese troops were marching from Canton to Manchuria to come to the relief of the North Koreans who had been defeated by Gen. MacArthur.

A controversy developed as to whether Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, MacArthur's intelligence officer, or the CIA was badly informed. Willoughby blames the CIA and the CIA blames Willoughby.

The fact is that an intention of the Chinese Communists, many months in the making and actually in process, was not known to our command until the Chinese struck at us.

SIMILARLY, President Syngman Rhee publicly stated his intention to adopt an independent attitude toward anti-Communist prisoners of war unless the Republic of Korea got a square deal out of the so-called truce.

This statement of intent on the part of the Republic of Korea was evaluated incorrectly as a bluff. It turned out to be startlingly real.

Evaluation is difficult, requiring not only enormous fundamental knowledge but keen judgment.

It would be stupid to assume that evaluation will always be correct and that any human being possesses godlike wisdom.

NEVERTHELESS, when stakes are so high, too many errors of judgment cannot be lightly accepted as average human error. That can be too costly.

An intelligence organization must be sensitive to the intent of every other country.

It should have, for instance, anticipated the development of neutralism. However, no intelligence organization can or should be responsible for overt acts to correct discovered intentions.

Espionage discovers; other agencies act on the discoveries. Otherwise, the intelligence organization becomes another State Department and defies the reason for its existence.

No Direct Quotation

By TRUMAN TWILL

One recent night at our house, a lady visitor leaped halfway out of her foundation garments when the Twillery tomcat, great grandson of the one who traveled under the name "T. Manville," strolled across the room.

This young fellow carries on his nefarious duties under the concealing title of "Baby Kitten." When the jumpy visitor had cleared the premises, he was called in and urged to give his version of ailurophobia, or fear of cats. He had been sent to the barn until the coast was clear.

In what follows, it must be understood that cats, like presidents of the United States, may not be quoted directly. The essence of what Baby Kitten said about ailurophobia is as follows:

It is nearly always found in women. There is nothing imaginary about it. A sufferer grows pale and begins to perspire. If no relief is available—if there is no way to get the cat and its victim apart—there may be serious consequences.

The cat may throw a fit. It may run up the curtains and across the ceiling, to a point directly over the person who has turned pale and drop on said person from above. A cat is not responsible for its acts under these circumstances.

It may make a horrible mess of things. It may have kittens, if that is the order of the day. In any event, the cat suffers as much as the human being. The dislike is always mutual.

This is known among cats as homophobia and is common throughout the lower reaches of the animal kingdom. If the lower animals had a universal language, they would form an association and raise money to discover a cure for homophobia. They would set up a foundation and have a tag day.

Baby Kitten suspects the extermination of human beings is the solution, though would be too drastic. He, himself, admits humans give him a chill, but he looks upon them as a necessary evil. All he asks is that they show a decent respect for his privacy and feed him with regularity because he hates the smell and taste of mice.

He believes this association of cats with mice causes many women to suffer from ailurophobia. There is a loathsome association in their minds, just as vegetarians find it hard to look at meat-eaters without imagining them slaving and squealing in a cannibalistic orgy.

As far as cats are concerned, Baby Kitten feels sure they get squeamish because humans are everlastingly kicking them, punting them into hedges, hoisting them up in the air and grabbing their tails. He says it would be a pleasure when these things happen to send out a few cats that wouldn't stand for any fooling around, like lions and tigers.

He hastened to point out that he wasn't offended by the lady visitor who had created the scene because he was the one who started it. He had been sound asleep when he was awakened by a sense of disquiet and, sure enough, it was his homophobia coming back on him, so he wanted to get out of there in a hurry.

BIBLE QUOTATION

Sing, O ye heavens; for the Lord hath done it: shout, ye lower parts of the earth: break forth into singing, ye mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel.—Isaiah 44:23.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letter For Special Delivery

Mr. Leonard Erickson, New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir: You have been named director of the Voice of America with power to reorganize the entire radio and TV effort, and, since you are a big advertising agency man, it shouldn't be too hard to rid the voice of throat scratch, nasal noises and other faults.

This is nothing more than a major advertising job calling for the same wallop, sense of direction and selling know-how used in putting across cigarettes, beer, cosmetics, cake mixes, car polishes, etc.

You have the greatest product in the world today—Democracy. And you have a greater trade mark than the Smith Brothers—the Statue of Liberty with torch aloft.

What you will need is a good whammy slogan and I suggest:

1—There's No Second Best to Freedom!
2—How Are You Fixed for Aides?
3—Pick a Way of Life That Is Not a Detour to Death!

4—America Wants Nothing but Friends.
5—Make Yours Liberty!
6—Block That Trick!
7—The U.S.A.! No Chains! No Firing Squads! No Detention Camps!

8—Mussolini and Hitler Wanted to Run the Earth, Too. Remember?
9—You Can't Go Wrong With the Right Compass.

10—Don't Confuse Freedom With Tobacco Road.

It should be easier to sell a glorious way of life than a detergent, a breath sweetener, an icebox or a smoke.

It's all in the formula. Brevity and sockeroo are the top requirements.

Nobody clutters up a soap or toothpaste selling campaign with a load of "disse and data" that includes phonographic recordings of H. I. Parade numbers, the figures on last year's auto production, the glorification of home as a luxury center, or involved dissertations telling a starving Himalayan peasant how millions of Americans go to work in limousines, spend their week ends in swimming and get a handsome income through quiz programs.

If the dumbest new boy in any advertising agency couldn't get up a better formula for selling freedom in a half hour than the Voice of America experts have devised in the last five years, he should be fired.

It is a job calling for inspiring symbols, flashing slogans, zip, drive and nonstop hammering on a few points that anybody can understand without a set of directions.

If it isn't easier to sell life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness than soups and salad oils something is wrong with the viewpoint.

The only really KING SIZE product on the market today is FREEDOM.

Of all thirty-day tests the most appealing is a thirty-day liberty test.

Food Withheld To Break Riot

1,000 Convicts Give Up After 3-Day Revolt

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Some 1,000 convicts, after ending a three-day revolt and being fed their first meal in 48 hours, became restive and "threatened violence" at the Oregon State Penitentiary late last night.

Warden Clarence T. Gladden said those still remaining in the prison recreation yard where they have been confined since early Saturday would stay there at least until this morning.

"They're getting ugly. They don't appreciate good treatment. They act as though they haven't had enough," he said.

About 125 men had been returned to their cells when Gladden made his decision. They had been searched and admitted to cell blocks in groups of 20 each.

Apparently a meal of hot soup, given to them after they surrendered, changed the convicts' attitude.

As early as yesterday morning they were ready to give up. But Gladden decided to hold them in the yard until he was sure the rioting, which caused more than $100,000 damage, would not flare up again.

Those still in the 100 by 150-yard recreation area were huddled around small bonfires. Heavily armed guards patrolled the prison walls above them.

Twenty-one felons, identified by Gladden as ringleaders of the revolt, gave themselves up earlier last night. Their surrender was the condition Gladden set for turning on the water supply to the area.

The convicts had been virtually without food or water since Saturday morning.

Later Gladden conferred with a prison-appointed committee of three convicts.

The committee, headed by R. H. C. Bennett, a former state legislator serving five years for larceny, was named after the warden earlier in the day told the prisoners he would have nothing to do with their 25-man "grievance committee."

The trouble, which began Friday morning with a no-work strike to enforce demands for improved conditions, reached its height of violence Saturday morning.

Then the convicts attempted to storm the prison control buildings. They failed and were driven at rifle point into the recreation area, which is in one corner of the walled prison.

The convicts set fire to the prison tailor shop. A building housing laundry equipment, the flax plant, and the machine shop also were damaged by fire.

After the convicts were herded into the recreation area, Gladden ordered the only water line to that section of the prison shut off.

With temperatures soaring above 90 degrees, the convicts attempted to dig up a water pipe beneath the baseball diamond. But guards broke that up with a few bursts of rifle fire.

Gladden, a veteran employee of the federal prison system, said the strike occurred because of sterner discipline he had imposed since he became warden April 1.

Identify 91 Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 91 Korean War casualties (List No. 854). Of the total, 16 are dead, 67 wounded and 8 injured in battle zone accidents.

NOT LOST, JUST FORGOTTEN—If young Billy White, of Meriden, Conn., grows up to have eight children, like his Dad has, maybe he'll understand how one of them can get lost in the shuffle. Right now, Billy thinks it's a rough deal. En route home from a New Hampshire vacation, Billy's dad stopped at a Topheld, Mass., gas station. In his car were Billy's mother, three of his brothers, an uncle, an aunt and a cousin. Billy went inside to get a candy bar. When he came out the family car was gone. Hours later and 100 miles away, police managed to flag down the car at Berlin, Conn., to inform Pop of his forgotten son. In the meantime, an uncle from Cambridge, Mass., had picked Billy up and taken him home.

AMA Demands End To Some Vets Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Curtalement of free hospitalization and medical treatment for veterans whose ailments are not connected with their military service was urged today by the American Medical Association.

The committee is considering proposals to limit privileges now accorded veterans for treatment of non-service connected disabilities, and to charge them according to their ability to pay.

IT'S RIGGED—Laverne Dorobiala, of Chicago, Ill., demonstrates the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. tickacktoe machine which never loses. The best you can hope for is a tie. Buttons light up the individual squares with crosses and, as soon as one is pressed, the machine comes back with a circle—always at the best place. If you try to cheat by pressing two buttons a bright red light flashes.

Lisbon Firm Is Underbid By Japanese Co.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) demanded today that the Department of Interior submit a "complete list of Ohio companies which have lost business to foreign firms" this year.

In a letter to Assistant Secretary Aandahl, Hays referred to a case of how a concern in his district was undersold on a $387,000 government order by a Japanese company.

Hays told a reporter the firm of Nippon Gaiishi Kaisha, Ltd. of Nagoya, Japan, had underbid R. Thomas & Sons Co. of Lisbon, O., on an order for 135,000 insulators for the Bonneville Power Administration in Portland, Ore.

The government bought the Japanese insulators, said Hays, without providing for proper inspection. He said the Japanese company was sending only 35 insulators in advance to be inspected by a State Department technical adviser.

This, he told the department, "amounts to no inspection at all." He also said the Japanese concern had been underbid on a similar order recently and apparently had just undercut its price 20 per cent to get this order.

Aandahl had written Hays that, under the "Buy American" law, 25 per cent of the Japanese bid had been added to the price along with duty and that the American bid still was higher.

Crestline Man Elected Ohio VFW Commander

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Joseph H. Rice, 31-year-old Crestline railroad engineer, is the new commander of the Ohio Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Other new officers elected Sunday at the end of the 3rd encampment are: Don Hopewell, Cincinnati, senior vice commander; Curt Jewell, Warren, junior vice commander; Leo Kubacki, Toledo, judge advocate; Joseph Bruggeman, Cincinnati, chaplain; Dr. Victor D. Martindale, Newark, surgeon, and George Fetter, Columbus, quartermaster.

So Weaver and his sister pooled their resources, rented a small shop in Snyder and began selling both wholesale and retail.

The first day's take was $271. Now ex-rancher Weaver is buying cattle from ranchers in his area, trying to give them a decent return on their investment, and at the same time sell the beef at a price the folks in the neighborhood can afford to pay.

New Joint Chiefs Assemble In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's new Joint Chiefs of Staff, preparing to take over in mid-August, are assembling in the capital.

Adm. Robert Carney, to be chief of naval operations, is due today. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, to be chairman of the joint chiefs, and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, to be Army chief of staff, arrived yesterday. Gen. Nathan F. Twining took over as Air Force chief of staff on June 30.

Actor Dies Of Cancer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Herbert Rawlinson, 67, veteran stage and screen actor, died yesterday of lung cancer.

Taft Progresses After Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Hospital reported early today that Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) was progressing satisfactorily after an exploratory operation performed last Wednesday.

His condition was said to be unchanged from yesterday, when the hospital reported he was "experiencing the normal postoperative course after laparotomy." The hospital bulletin yesterday also said Taft was "eating lightly, sleeping well and able to be up and about his room."

The operation was performed on the abdominal wall to learn more precise details of his ailment.

Pantages-Paparodis Nuptials Are Held In Canton Church

The nuptial schedule for Miss Vasselia Pantages, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pantages of Alliance, and Thomas George Paparodis, son of Mrs. Dena Paparodis of N. Ellsworth Ave., included the wedding Saturday in the St. Haralambos Greek Orthodox Church in Canton and the reception for 300 people there in the Onesto Hotel.

Rev. Steven Katsaris of the Greek Orthodox Church at Ambridge, Pa. officiated in the double ring ceremony performed at 4 o'clock before a large company of friends and relatives of the couple.

The glow of tapers in six candelabra lighted the altar setting of palms arranged with beauty baskets of white flowers. The traditional marches were used in processional and recessional and the church choir sang softly during the ceremony.

Floral etched Chantilly lace was combined with net in fashioning the beautiful gown worn by the bride. The lace bodice was designed over satin and the portrait neckline was edged in illusion. Cap sleeves were lace as were her mitts. The soft bouffant skirt of net came from the waist beneath a pannier of lace. Tiers of nylon tulle pleats at the skirt front tapered toward the hemline and the long net train flowed over satin.

Her heart-shaped bonnet, of lace frosted satin and pearls, held in place her veil of imported illusion. Complementing her costume was a white orchid in a frame of white roses and Stephanotis.

The sister of the bridegroom, Miss Helen Paparodis of Salem was maid of honor. She was gown-ela Pappas of Canton was flower girl in yellow and she carried a basket of rose petals.

Mrs. Vasselia Paparodis

The godfather of the bridegroom, William Matsukas of Ambridge, Pa., was best man. Ushers were Gus Paparodis of Salem, brother of the bridegroom, George Pantages of Cleveland, brother of the bride, and Louis Papalos of Warren.

Mrs. Pantages was attired in a ballerina - length gown of beige glow lace over taffeta. Mrs. Paparodis chose a dress of navy blue crepe with lace inserts. Both wore white orchid corsages.

The newlyweds and their 300 guests from Salem, Akron, Canton, Cleveland, Midland, and Saginaw, Mich. and Ambridge, Pittsburgh, and Beaver Falls, Pa., dined and danced to the music of the Theodosian Brothers orchestra from Cleveland. A four-tiered wedding cake was the center of attraction.

Mr. Paparodis and his bride will honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains and through east. For traveling, Mrs. Paparodis wore an aqua linen suit with white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

When they return they will make their home in a newly-furnished apartment at 525 E. Main St., Alliance.

The bride was formerly employed in the advertising department of the Alliance Review and her husband is an employee in the Belmont Night Club in Alliance.

Virginia Blutcher Wed To Kenneth Wilson, Jr.

The double ring ceremony for the marriage of Miss Virginia Blutcher of East Palestine and Kenneth Wilson, Jr. of New Waterford, was held Saturday evening July 4, at the New Waterford Presbyterian manse by Rev. George Ramsey.

The bride, a daughter of John Blutcher of East Palestine, is a graduate of East Palestine High School. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, Sr. of New Waterford. He was recently discharged from the army and is with the Rohrer Builders Supply Company in Columbiana.

The couple will live in East Palestine.

200 Enjoy Club Picnic

Approximately 200 attended the annual Kiwanis Club picnic for members and their families at the Salem Country Club Wednesday night.

Bob Kaminsky was general chairman, and Don Vincent was in charge of games for the children. Prizes were given to the winners.

Barbara Barnard Is Bride Saturday Of Melvin Cass

Keeping the traditional "something old, new, borrowed and blue" Miss Barbara A. Barnard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Barnard of Jones Drive, and Melvin R. Cass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cass of Burwell, Neb., were married Saturday in the Franklin Square Methodist Church.

Mrs. Robert Hammel of Salem played the nuptial melodies as the guests assembled for the 2 o'clock ceremony performed by Rev. Walter Bailey of the First Friends Church in Williamsport, Pa. Mrs. George Talbot sang "Because" and "Oh Promise Me."

Mr. Barnard escorted his daughter to the altar where white pompons and white gladioli were arranged in the background setting.

When the couple exchanged their vows in the single ring service the bride was gownned in white taffeta. The bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline and the fully fashioned skirt ended in a train. A tiara of seed pearls held her veil in place, and her pearl necklace had belonged to her mother.

The orchid she carried on her white Bible was showered with Stephanotis.

Attending the bride was Miss June Gibbons of Salem, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Elaine Renshaw of Detroit and Miss Dorothy Darnell of Galveston, Tenn. All wore ballerina - length gowns of net with matching hat and mitts. Miss Gibbons in mint green, carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, and Miss Renshaw and Miss Darnell both wore pale pink and carried pink roses in their colonial bouquets.

Eugene Hall of Youngstown, best man, and Fred Hall of Youngstown and Ronald Hall of Salem, ushers, all are uncles of the bride.

Mrs. Cass was unable to attend the wedding but Mrs. Barnard was present in a navy blue crepe two-piece dress with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. William Hall, grandmother of the bride, also had a gardenia corsage.

People at the reception in the Barnard home came from Washington, D.C., Youngstown, Marion, Williamsport, Pa., Salem, and Franklin Square.

A tiered wedding cake was served to 38 members at the buffet lunch for the immediate family and a few close friends of the couple. Assisting Mrs. Barnard with the preparations were her daughters, Mrs. Marion Faini and Mrs. Walter Bailey.

After their honeymoon week at Wildwood N.J. M. and Mrs. Cass will return to Washington, D.C. where they will reside at 764 Mississippi Ave., S.E. When they left on their trip the bride wore a two piece ensemble of tan combined with tan and dark brown and white. Her accessories were white and she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Cass is a student at Maryland University and his bride is a fingerprint technician for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

Alice Morgan Back From European Trip

Miss Alice Morgan of Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Rose Morgan and the late Harry Morgan, well known former Salem residents, recently returned from a seven week tour of Europe.

A private secretary to an executive at the Higbee Co. Miss Morgan is noted for her professional singing and artistic whistling, and while crossing the Atlantic she was invited to perform with the ship's orchestra the night of the Gala Dinner Celebration.

Highlights in her tour included London and other points of interest in England; Paris, the French Riviera, Nice, France; in Italy, the ruins of Pompei, magnificent churches, the Vatican Museum, famous masterpieces of Raphael and Michelangelo, displays of Biblical actualities, the Pantheon and the Colosseum, Venice with its network of canals and Leonardo da Vinci's original "Last Supper" in Milan.

"I found Switzerland, with its snowcapped mountains, waterfalls and profusion of wildflowers, the most scenic of all countries visited," Miss Morgan relates, "and it was a thrill to meet cousins in the village of Wiedlisbach near Bern and to enjoy the hospitality of a typical Swiss home."

Miss Morgan made the return trip to United States on the Ile de France.

Auxiliary Hears Reports On State Convention

Mrs. Bernese Rock presided at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, Patriarch Militant, Friday evening in I.O.O.F. hall, when reports were given on the department association (state convention) of the order which occurred recently in Dayton.

As delegate for the Salem group, Mrs. Rock was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Strawn of Damascus and Mrs. L. L. Pyle of East Palestine.

The meeting followed a coverdsh supper. Plans were made for inspection Friday, Sept. 11. The next meeting will be Aug. 14.

Lanolin Plus Does Wonders For Your Skin

Your Skin Wakes Up to New Beauty and Exquisite Softness With Lanolin Plus Liquid

ONE OF THE most serious beauty problems women face is premature wrinkles, due to excessive dryness or climatic conditions. The longer this dry condition exists, the deeper and more permanent the premature wrinkles and crow's-feet become. Now with Lanolin Plus Liquid, you can help replenish vital oils that are so essential to a smoother, more youthful complexion.

Harsh cleansing methods remove the skin's natural lubricants—esters and cholesterol—and in many cases, may further dry out your skin. All you have to do is soften the skin and premature wrinkles become less and less apparent. Try this wonderfully refreshing facial with LANOLIN PLUS LIQUID at night before you go to bed. Your face will feel relaxed and refreshed—and you'll feel a glowing kind of youthful vitality in your skin. And when your skin feels this good, you just know it looks radiant and exquisitely smooth!

Your Hands Will Look Lovelier ... Feel Softer With Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion

Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion can bring your hands loveliness you may have forgotten, or didn't know you really had. With each bottle, you receive as a gift the convenient dispenser shown here. Dispenser drops just the right amount of Lanolin Plus into your hands so you never waste a precious drop.

You can't imagine what beauty you have in the palms of your hands until you use Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion. For Lanolin Plus, containing the right amount of lanolin with its valuable esters and cholesterol, penetrates your skin and replenishes vital oils that your hands need to make them feel and look smooth as silk.

It's no wonder that Lanolin Plus is so effective. Years ago on the plains of Australia, during sheep-shearing season, the hands of the men were dry and calloused. But almost immediately an amazing phenomenon occurred. Their hands became softer and smoother. The secret? Lanolin, the closest duplication of the natural oils of our human skin, is found in the fats and oils of the sheep's wool. As the men sheared the sheep, lanolin was absorbed into their skin. And gradually their hands became softer and smoother. Today chemists have found a way to blend an abundant amount of lanolin into Lanolin Plus. The formula holds an exclusive United States patent.

Treat your hands to this entirely new feeling of petal-freshness and softness. Use LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION all through your busy day. It works quickly, then disappears like magic. So reasonably priced, too—only one dollar, plus tax, at all cosmetic counters.

With Lanolin Plus Suntan Lotion, You Can Help Prevent Peeling...Get A Smooth, Even Tan

Here for the first time is a suntan lotion containing not only a filtering agent that screens out the sun's harmful ultra violet rays, but also an abundant amount of Lanolin Plus that helps to stop peeling before it ever gets started! Most peeling is due to excessive dryness caused by overexposure to the burning, drying rays of the sun. Lanolin Plus Suntan Lotion starts its softening action the minute you apply it to your body... and it keeps your skin thoroughly lubricated while you're under the sun.

No wonder you'll have your most attractive tan ever when you use Lanolin Plus Suntan Lotion. So economical, too. A dollar* bottle lasts the average sun-worshiper through a glorious tan. Get LANOLIN PLUS SUNTAN LOTION at your cosmetic counter now... and make sure your skin is soft and lovely every single day this summer.

Make Your Skin Softer, Smoother "All Over" With Lanolin Plus Body Lotion

From the time of the early Egyptians, women who have longed for loveliness have tried to keep their skin soft and smooth with various fragrant oils. Now, for your every-day enjoyment, there is a heavenly body lotion, enriched with lanolin to keep every inch of you "petal-soft." No matter what the weather, this creamy-smooth liquid penetrates, and protects your skin from the drying effects of sun, wind and dry air.

Never before there was such a luxuriant lotion—so delicately scented, so gently effective, as Lanolin Plus Body Lotion. You'll love the way it helps replenish vital oils, dried out from frequent bathing. A superb blend of protecting, softening oils and lanolin, this new body lotion makes you feel refreshingly relaxed, lovely all over!

It takes so little... spreads so easily... and is so economical that you'll want to use it faithfully. Don't let a day go by without using your LANOLIN PLUS BODY LOTION. You'll find the generous twelve-ounce bottle only $1.50, plus tax, at all cosmetic counters.

Hold a hot washcloth to your face and neck for about a minute to open pores and allow tired muscles to relax.

Warm the bottle of Lanolin Plus Liquid under hot water tap. Briskly massage into face and neck until skin begins to tingle.

After a few minutes, wipe your face petal-fresh.

Rinse your face and neck with cold water. Then gently massage a few drops of Lanolin Plus Liquid into your skin before retiring. Its gentle, penetrating action will work while you sleep... and you'll awake next morning to find new radiant beauty in your skin. There's no need to let premature wrinkles make you look older. Use LANOLIN PLUS LIQUID faithfully every day. You'll find it at all cosmetic counters for only one dollar, plus tax.

Your Hair Will Be Lovelier, More Manageable If It's In Good Condition

All the new "hair-dos", rinses, permanents and bleaches in the world can't make your hair look prettier if it isn't in good condition. Simple, basic care of your hair is your first step toward hair beauty. And Lanolin Plus For The Hair should be your first thought.

If your hair is dull, dry and unmanageable, it will surely welcome the refreshing, softening influence of Lanolin Plus. For lanolin, with its rich base of stimulating esters and cholesterol, is the closest duplication of Nature's own lubricants. Too often the gleaming highlights and lovely softness that Nature meant for your hair to have are taken away by various kinds of harsh hair treatment, water, and the drying effects that come from exposure to sun or wind. When that happens—and even before it happens—look to Lanolin Plus For The Hair to supplement precious natural oils and bring out sparkling highlights.

It can be used in several ways. Before a shampoo: Rub gently into scalp and massage hair strands. If you prefer, use it the night before you shampoo. After each shampoo: If dryness is severe, brush a few drops through the hair, and in the ends. Every day: A few drops brushed on help to keep unruly locks and stray ends beautifully in place.

You'll find, too, that the men of your house will like this new, lanolin-rich lotion for their hair. Imparts a well-groomed sheen to hair... and it's so lightly scented.

Give your hair a chance to look its best. Get LANOLIN PLUS FOR THE HAIR soon. At all cosmetic counters, only a dollar, plus tax.

You owe it to yourself to discover the wondrous things Lanolin Plus products can do for you. When you use them faithfully, you'll have the key that brings forth skin and hair beauty you may never have realized you had!

Bits About Beauty by Cynthia Russell

This summer, if you want to be sure your skin feels soft and looks smooth day and night, follow this simple routine carefully. When you've spent hours in the sun, your skin is apt to become very dry so after you bathe, use Lanolin Plus Body Lotion lavishly. That way you'll keep your shoulders, arms and back looking soft and lovely-to-touch when you wear your off-the-shoulder evening clothes.

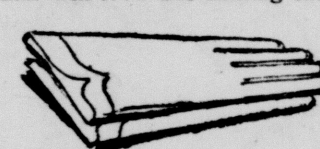

To have that luxurious feeling of petal-softness and freshness after bathing, apply your Lanolin Plus Body Lotion before you're completely dry. You'll find that it spreads more easily and disappears more quickly, leaving your skin satin-smooth and feeling wonderful!

Don't let summer sun steal the softness from your hair. Before you go out to face the burning rays of the sun and the drying effects of water, always massage your scalp with a little Lanolin Plus For The Hair. You'll find this will supplement your natural oils and all summer long your hair will look like shining satin.

If you're going on a vacation, be sure to pack an old pair of cotton gloves. Then every night when you go to bed, massage LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION into your hands and around the base of your nails to help prevent callouses and hangnails. Wear your cotton gloves overnight and see how lovely and soft your hands feel the next morning. (Chances are you'll discover that your manicure lasts longer, too!)

Reveal Your Hair's Natural Loveliness With Lanolin Plus Hard Water Shampoo

Perhaps you are one of the many women who are at a loss to know how to keep their hair and scalp scrupulously clean, yet preserve the natural oils that are essential to soft, glistening hair. Possibly you've found that ordinary cleansing has either had a severe drying action, leaving the scalp flaky and the hair brittle and unmanageable, or has left a sticky, dulling film on your hair.

Now, Lanolin Plus Hard Water Shampoo answers this problem for you. For this is the shampoo that contains a superabundance of lanolin, the nearest duplication of nature's own oils. It not only helps lubricate scalp and soften hair, but at the same time it lathers beautifully in the hardest water. Its rich, lanolized suds thoroughly whisk away dirt and grime so that the hair is left soft and silken and gleaming, as it should be. Just as the shampoo cleanses, its oil pampers the hair.

It's economical, too, because it's fast-acting, and ordinarily only one application is needed each time you wash your hair. All cosmetic counters can supply you with LANOLIN PLUS HARD WATER SHAMPOO for only a dollar. You'll never know how really clean, soft and manageable your hair can be until you use this thorough shampoo, containing such a generous supply of lanolin. Try it, and see if you're not amazed at the new loveliness it gives to your hair.

Braves Win Pair From Cards, Yanks Edge Senators, 6-5

Phils Beat Bucs, 6-4, 6-5; Red Sox, A's Split; Giants Lose

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

Ask almost any National League manager what he thinks of the Milwaukee Braves and he'll shake his head in wonderment and tell you they should have folded long ago.

They'll tell you the Braves still will fold, but with the season more than half over, they don't say so with the same finality they used a month ago.

When the Braves lost three games in a row to the Brooklyn Dodgers late last month, their detractors thought they had cracked good and never would recover. Then early this month, they fell 3½ games behind the Dodgers, and again the experts figured it was all over but the shouting.

Yet, today, the Braves are just a game and a half behind the Dodgers and creating more noise than any dead Indian should.

The St. Louis Cardinals had a good opportunity yesterday to help bury Charley Grimm's tomahawk slingers and they succeeded only in digging a grave for themselves. The Braves won a double-header from the Cards 10-1 and 4-3 and knocked the Redbirds right into fourth place.

The Philadelphia Phillies took over third place by whacking the helpless Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4 and 6-5. In other games, the Dodgers turned back the New York Giants 4-3, and the Cincinnati Redlegs won two games from the Chicago Cubs 7-4 and 7-3.

In the American League the New York Yankees whipped the Washington Senators 6-5 but saw their lead sliced to five games when the Chicago White Sox mauled the Cleveland Indians twice, 14-2 and 3-1. Boston and Philadelphia split a double-header, the Red Sox winning the first 9-5 and the A's the second 4-1. The Detroit Tigers won the first game of their twin bill with the St. Louis Browns 8-7, but the Browns took the second 3-2, beating Ralph Branca, making his first American League start.

The Braves made things easy for Johnny Antonelli to notch his eighth victory of the year in the first game by slugging five Cardinal pitchers for 17 hits, including a grand slam home run by Ed Mathews.

The nightcap, though, was a different story. The Cards scored three runs in the fifth and Don Liddle had to be rescued by Bob Buhl, who held the Cards at bay while his mates were notching the tying and winning runs in the seventh.

The double triumph enabled the Braves to shave a half game off the Dodgers' lead. The Brooks themselves snapped an eight-game winning streak of the Giants when they scored a run off relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm in the bottom of the 10th inning. With the bases loaded, Wilhelm passed Bobby Morgan to force in the winning run. Billy Cox had tied it for Chuck Dressen's operatives with a home run in the ninth with one on.

Robin Roberts hurled the Phillies to their first-game triumph for his 14th victory of the year, while Bob Miller and Steve Ridzik tossed the nightcap. The defeat was the Pirates' 10th in a row.

Harry Perkowski and Fred Baczewski each went all the way for the improving Redlegs in their twin triumphs over the Cubs.

The Yanks had to win their game the hard way. They had a 5-3 margin going into the ninth, but Jackie Jensen hit a home run off reliever Bob Kuzava to shave the net deficit to one run. That called for Allie Reynolds to take over the mound for the Yanks. He gave up a triple to Keith Thomas and a game-tying fly to Gil Coan.

In the home half of the ninth, Gene Woodling singled Mickey Mantle, who had walked and gone to second on another walk to Irv Noren, home with the winning run. Reynolds got credit for the victory.

The fearless White Sox really lambasted the Indians in the opener as a parade of five Tribe pitchers paraded to the mound. They took their lumps to the tune of 19 hits. Mike Fornieles had no trouble on the hill for the Pale Hose.

In the second game, the Indians put up more of a fight, although Bob Lemon, one of their aces, was tapped for 13 hits. The Sox couldn't capitalize, though, and needed a tightly pitched game by Virgil Trucks and Billy Pierce, who came on in the ninth.

Hector Brown and Ivan Deadlock tossed the Red Sox to their first-game victory, but Harry Byrd stopped them with six hits in the nightcap to give the A's a split.

The Tigers took the opener from the Browns on a neat relief chore by Ray Herbert. In the second game, Branca was tapped for all three runs in the first inning and was charged with the loss. After the rocky first, he did all right until he was lifted in the sixth.

Sammy Baugh Retires From Pro Football

By HERB ALTSCHULL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins got out their football yearbook today and for the first time in 17 years, the big name was missing. For, at long last, Sammy Baugh has retired.

No. 33 from Texas Christian built up practically every passing record in the National Football League in his 16 years with the Redskins, and with his departure an era of Washington football history comes to an end.

He had been with the club ever since it set up shop in Washington, throwing 3,016 pro football passes and completing 1,709 of them for 22,085 yards and 187 touchdowns. Each of those figures is a league record.

Stengel Rapped For Picking Only 1 Lefty

By JOE REICHLER
CINCINNATI (AP)—Skeptical American Leaguers, openly critical of Casey Stengel's pitching strategy, hoped the old manager's World Series magic will work in tomorrow's All-Star Game against the powerhouse National League.

Stengel is under fire for his insistence on going with only one southpaw pitcher—Chicago's Billy Pierce—against the National's left-handed fencebusters. Only the memory of Stengel's successful use of lefty Bob Kuzava against the National's tough right-handed hitters in the last two World Series tempered their remarks.

"Speaking as a fan," said General Manager Frank Lane of the White Sox, "I can't see why Stengel picked only one left-hander when anybody can see that the National is stacked with southpaw swingers. How did he overlook Mel Parnell, Boston's fine left-hander?"

"If I were the National League manager, you can bet I'd keep my left-handers in all game. But then again, we front office men aren't supposed to know as much as the managers."

Calvin Griffith, Washington vice president, also expressed amazement over Stengel's failure to select Parnell.

"The last time I looked," Griffith said, "Parnell had the best record in the league. How did Stengel ever pass him up?"

National Leaguers, still smarting from four straight World Series defeats by Stengel, were confident they could gain some measure of revenge by whipping the Yankee skipper for the fourth straight time in the midsummer classic. They beat him 4-3, 8-3 and 3-2 in the last three years.

Although the American League has won 12 of the previous 19 clashes, the betting gentry has installed the Nationals a 7-5 favorite. They base their odds on the home run ability of Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell, Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews and St. Louis' Stan Musial, and Enos Slaughter, all of whom bat left-handed. Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals, the National League's leading hitter, hits both ways.

5,489 Fans See Bob James Win Canfield Event

Bob James of Cuyahoga Falls, leading pilot in the MARC circuit, last Saturday night captured his 19th feature victory of the season at the Canfield Speedway before 5,489 fans.

Adding to the James' achievement was the fact that only by the use of a borrowed car was he able to race at all. James arrived too late at the track to qualify his Firestone Special, so he borrowed Mac Cline's car. Bob Greer of Hubbard placed second, Tom Kane of Youngstown third, Dave Dangerfield of Youngstown, fourth, and Mike Klapak of Warren, fifth.

Greer, starting in third position in the 19 car field, quickly took the lead. He held command, until James, who started 17th, overhauled him on the 17th lap. Both Greer and Kane made separate bids but couldn't catch James.

It appeared that all Kane needed was a wreck to get him on the victory trail. Kane rolled his mount during the third heat, but came back in the fourth to place second and then captured the Australian Pursuit race. He was third in the feature event.

Jeff Samuels of Ashtabula climbed the fence on the backstretch, then bounced off, causing a three car collision in the second heat.

Wes Crowley of Boardman and Jimmy Romine of Youngstown, waged a terrific race in the 15 lap consolation, with Crowley winning in a sensational finish. Jerry Carver of Canfield won the time trials in 19.68.

Stock car racing will continue at the Canfield Speedway Wednesday night with nine scheduled events, including the Hard Top Race, and the added attraction of stock car drivers in a game of Donkey Hoop Ball.

Rudy Schuster won first place in the A Flight division of the week-end tournament at the Salem Golf Club. The tourney was a matched play against par. Schuster had the lowest score of the day with an even against par 70.

Ed Knox and Ed Kennedy tied for second place with one down to par.

In the B Flight, Lynn Ferguson was first with a two down to par 72. Second was Jack Harroff with three down to par. Nat Walken was third with four down to par.

Bob Maurer was first in the C Flight with nine down to par and Bill Ferguson was second with 11 down to par.

Aldom's Diner Defeats Mullins

Aldom's Diner defeated Mullins, 13-8, Sunday at Centennial Park in a postponed Pony League game.

Stallsmith was the winning Diner pitcher, striking out 13 Mullins batters. Phillis and Ziegler pitched for Mullins, together fanning ten.

Swartz and Reich homered for the Diner. Snyder also hit a home run for Mullins.

Covert led the Diner batting with three hits in three times at bat.

Stallsmith and Hendricks also had three hits apiece for the winners. Louis knocked out Jack Kracken Sandusky, Ziegler, and Snyder in the first round at Chicago.

each had two hits for Mullins.

The Diner scored six runs in the first inning, one in the second, two in the fifth, and four more in the sixth inning. Mullins scored in the first, fifth and seventh innings.

Palmer Wins Ohio Amateur Golf Title

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 23-year-old Pennsylvania Coast Guardsman, the state amateur crown perched on his sun-bronzed forehead, sat on Ohio's amateur golf throne today.

In his hand he held a battered putter, the magic scepter which won him the right to rule.

The champion is Arnold Palmer, son of professional Milford (Deke) Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., and stationed at the Cleveland Coast Guard base.

Palmer, with a five-under-par performance in Sunday's 36-hole finals over Pine Ridge Country Club's par 71 course, nosed out courageous Howard Baker Saunders, 32-year-old Gallipolis insurance man, two up.

It was a ding-dong battle all the way, with Saunders, 1945 and 1946 Big Ten champion for Ohio State, refusing to yield until the final hole. Saunders, who has a rigid left hip and a left leg several inches shorter than the right as the result of a boyhood illness, was four under par with 138 for the 36 holes.

It was Palmer's steady golf which won the verdict. He had eight birdies on the round, and missed par only three times, while Saunders, with a dozen birdies, missed par on six holes.

Next year's tournament goes to the Sylvania Club in Toledo, the week of July 12, with the next two to Zanesville and Mansfield.

Lake Milton Man Wins Hydroplane Regatta

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—James Moore of Lake Milton, O., averaged 52.69 miles an hour Sunday to win the Class C hydroplane race at the second annual Tube City regatta on the Monongahela River.

In his first professional fight, Joe Louis knocked out Jack Kracken Sandusky, Ziegler, and Snyder in the first round at Chicago.

Redlegs Beat Cubs Twice, 7-4, 7-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs need only four more home runs to equal the all-time local mark of 110 set in 1938.

The team's top home run slugger—Ted Kluszewski with 25—didn't hit for the circuit Sunday as the Redlegs twice whipped the Chicago Cubs, 7-4, 7-3. But Gus Bell whacked his 22nd Willard Marshall his seventh and eighth, and freshman pitcher Fred Baczewski his first in the major leagues—all in the nightcap.

In the opening game, the Bruins had priority in the four-master department Ex-Pirate Ralph Kiner slugged his 20th and 21st and Dee Fondy his 11th, but in a losing cause.

The Redlegs took a three-run lead in the first inning when starter Bob Rush walked Bobby Adams, Bell and Jim Greengrass singled. Marshall drew an intentional pass, and Andy Seminick singled.

The Cubs inched up in the sixth and seventh. Kiner sent the ball over the centerfield wall in the sixth and Fondy singled in Ransom.

Jackson, who had doubled, in the seventh.

The Redlegs cuffed relievers Turk Lown and Dutch Leonard in the bottom of the seventh, scoring four runs on two hits and three walks. Seminick's double for two runs was the big blow.

Kiner's homer in the eighth and Fondy's in the ninth represented Chicago's last gasp.

The issue was clearer in the second game. The Redlegs stockpiled a 7-0 lead and Maczewski had a shutout going until the ninth. A walk to Hank Sauer and singles by Jackson and Fondy paved the way for Bill Serena's three-run double.

Elwin (Preacher) Roe, southpaw ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was given his nickname at the age of three in his home town, Ash Flat, Ark.

The first American pugilist to obtain recognition as middleweight champion was Tom Chandler. He defeated Dooney Harris in a bare knuckles fight in 23 rounds in San Francisco on April 13, 1867.

Tribe Drops 2 To Chicago, Falls 8½ Games Behind Yanks

White Sox Win 25 Of Last 31

Houtteman, Lemon Charged With Losses

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, back from a disastrous week-end in Chicago, haven't been so far out of first place since June 25.

Sunday's double defeat at the hands of the rampaging White Sox, left the faltering Tribe 8½ games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees and 3½ games behind the second place team from the windy city.

The twin win Sunday, at scores of 14-2 and 3-1, gave Chicago four straight victories out of the five-game series. The White Sox have won 25 of their last 31 games.

Running through seven Cleveland pitchers, the Sox hit safely in 19 consecutive innings until Bob Lemon stopped them in the seventh inning of the second game by retiring three batters in order.

Mike Fornieles limited the Tribe to six hits in the first game for his seventh victory, while Art Houtteman was charged with the loss from among four other Cleveland hurlers.

Virgil Trucks won the second game for his first victory over Cleveland since the last of the 1951 season. Lemon, the loser, drove in the only Tribe run in the fifth inning with a triple which scored George Strickland, who also had tripled.

Hard Riding Salem Polo Club Hands Harbor Hills First Loss

The Salem Polo Club handed Columbus Harbor Hills its first loss of the current polo season, 3-2, Sunday at the Columbus Polo field.

The Salem players looked the best they have all year and had in order to defeat Columbus which had a record of seven straight wins. It was Salem's fifth win against three setbacks.

The score was tied 2-2 when the bell sounded ending the game, but in polo the teams continue to play until a team scores or the ball goes out of bounds when the game ends. Jim Pidgeon scored the winning goal after two good layup shots by Willy Smith. Much credit for Pidgeon's goal and for the outcome of the game is attributed to Roy Bates who played perfect defensive ball all afternoon. Bates has also contributed greatly to many of Salem's winning goals in other games this year.

Salem scored in the fourth, fifth and sixth chukkers. Willy Smith and Roy Bates scored Salem's other two goals.

Previously, Harbor Hills had beaten every other team in the League everytime they met and are still leading the Pnn-Ohio League.

This Sunday the Columbus Farms squad invades Salem at the local field on the Ellsworth Road.

Veck's Plea To Move Browns Gets Support

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bill Veck's plan to move his St. Louis Browns' franchise appears to have gained new support.

The American League discussed Veck's problem at length in its meeting yesterday and there were indications that a new attempt to move would receive more favorable consideration. They turned down Veck's attempt to shift the Browns to Baltimore last March by a 5-2 vote.

A league spokesman declined to elaborate except to say that the St. Louis situation had been discussed.

However, Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, said that the outlook for the Browns' shift appeared to be more favorable than ever.

"All I can say is this," he said. "The owners looked upon Bill's plight in St. Louis with a great deal of sympathy. I have no way of knowing whether they would give approval but I think he could get more votes than he did last March."

Lane was one of the two club officials to cast his vote in favor of the transfer at the Tampa meeting. Cleveland cast the other favorable ballot.

Asked whether any specific reference was made to Baltimore as the sight for a possible shift of the Browns, Lane said:

"No city was officially mentioned. Any city with a population of more than 5,000 thinks it is capable of becoming a major league town."

Veck declined to discuss his future plans although it appeared almost certain he would make another attempt to move next winter. "All I'm going to say right now is that we're going to finish the season in St. Louis," he said. "As for next year, we'll just have to wait and see."

Toledo Moves Near Association Lead

The Toledo Sox, with an assist from St. Paul, hoisted themselves to within a game and a half of the pace-setting Indianapolis Indians in the American Association Sunday.

The Sox nipped Minneapolis 6-5 in a battle of home runs while St. Paul's Saints went 12 innings to a 3-2 victory over the Indians.

In the other games, Charleston beat Kansas City 4-3 and Louisville and Columbus split a doubleheader. Columbus won the opener 9-7 and Louisville the nightcap 4-2. Toledo hammered three homers

NOW! Ford Master-Guide the last word in Power Steering!

"WHO NEEDS MUSCLES?"

Master-Guide applies hydraulic steering power automatically... and in varying degrees as required... right at the steering linkage, close to the wheels. At the same time the system serves as a hydraulic shock absorber to keep road jars and jolts from your hands. As a result all you do is...guide the car... Master-Guide supplies the muscles.

It's the newest in a long list of Ford advancements that make this Ford the outstanding car for '53!

No other car near Ford's price has ever offered you so much!

Ford was the first in its field to bring you V-8 power. Today, Ford alone of all the low-priced cars offers you the smooth, unsurpassed performance of a V-8 engine. And Ford's Six—the most modern in the industry—with Overdrive, won the Grand Sweepstakes in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.

Ford first brought to the low-price field a completely automatic transmission that combines the smoothness of a torque converter and the gas-saving "go" of automatic gears. Fordomatic remains the most versatile automatic you can buy.

Ford's new "ride" brings you curve-hugging and bump-leveling qualities never before known in low-priced cars. Front end road shock alone has been reduced up to 80%.

Easier-acting suspended pedals, Center-Fill Fueling and Full-Circle Visibility are just a few of the many other important advancements first introduced by Ford.

And now Ford brings you the newest and finest in power steering... Master-Guide, a system exclusive in Ford's field! It's no wonder, then, that Ford is the "Worth More" car... worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it.

HELPS YOU OUT OF "TIGHT SPOTS!" The tougher the going the more Master-Guide works for you. For example, if you go off the pavement onto a soft shoulder or a rough, rutted road, Master-Guide provides the muscles to keep you on a steady course. At the same time, Master-Guide absorbs the shock that might otherwise be transmitted to the steering wheel. You'll find all handling is easier with Master-Guide and that parking requires only one-fourth the normal effort. Should Master-Guide ever lose its power, the standard steering mechanism will operate just as usual. Thus, Master-Guide provides new ease and stability, with a natural feel and full security, wherever you may drive.

Optional on all V-8 models at extra cost.

ity church service to be held Sunday evening at the Fairgrounds.

Dr. Will W. Orr, president of Westminster College at New Wilmington, Pa. will speak. Choral music will be provided by a 100-voice group directed by W. S. Frew.

In the afternoon, the General Electric "house of magic" show will be held at the High School. Two shows will be given the following Monday.

Monday, July 20, will be "Merchants Day" with a parade planned and open house at veterans.

In the evening the first performance of the historical pageant "Of Years Gone By" will be presented at the Fairgrounds. Containing a cast of over 300, the pageant will depict the history of the community.

The spectacle will be repeated July 21, 22, and 23.

Prior to the first performance, the Sesqui Queen will be crowned. She will be picked from a group of eight contestants.

The day's activities will end with a large fireworks display. July 21 has been designated as "Industry Day" and July 22 as "County Day."

Children of the area will take over July 23 for "Youth Day" sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"Farmer's Day" will be observed July 24 with an all-day program planned including a tractor rodeo contest at the Fairgrounds.

The climax to the celebration will come July 24, Homecoming Day. The day will conclude with a mammoth parade set for the evening.

Invitations have been going out for months inviting former residents to attend and a large crowd is expected, according to general chairman L. S. Firestone, G. C. Rauch and Dr. Seward Harris.

Governors of nearby states have also been invited as well as the mayor of Lisbon, Portugal.

The official greetings of Mayor Wilbur Warren to the mayor across the sea has been arranged by Federal Judge Ernest H. Van Fossan, a Lisbon native.

Four Portuguese naval officers in training at the Naval Center at Great Lakes, Ill., have been invited.

Aircrafts Lead

Market's Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—A downward drift in the stock market today was accentuated by lower prices for aircrafts.

Fractional losses predominated in the bulk of the list. Aircrafts were off from major fractions between 1 and 2 point and other issues occasionally fell more than a point.

Along with dip in aircrafts, motors, and railroads, also lower were steels, oils, and chemicals.

Lisbon Sesqui Caravan To Visit Here Tonight

LISBON — Another caravan to publicize the Lisbon Sesquicentennial will be staged tonight by the Brothers of the Brush and Sisters of the Swish.

The members of the organizations, a brass band and private cars will visit Salem, Damascus, Hanoverton and other communities in the western part of the county. The caravan will leave Lisbon at about 7 p.m., with Salem scheduled as the first stop.

A similar trip will be made to East Liverpool and Wellsville later this week.

The 150th birthday celebration will open Saturday and run through July 26.

Traffic

in a one-car mishap at 5 a.m. today on Route 7, one and one-half miles south of Rogers.

Treated at Salem City Hospital and released were: Carl Van Kirk, 33, of New Galilee, Pa. and Cecil Thompson, 20, of Cannelton, Pa.

Van Kirk sustained lacerations of the right eye and nose and multiple abrasions of both arms. He was driving the car. A passenger, Thompson, received lacerations of the head and abrasions of the right leg.

The accident occurred, patrolmen said, when the driver lost control of his car on a curve at an apparently high rate of speed, bounded across the road and back several times, and finally overturned, coming to rest against a telephone pole in an overturned position.

Auto Is Demolished

The impact completely demolished the auto, the patrol reported, and broke off the pole at its base. Van Kirk was cited by the Patrol for reckless driving and fined $10 and costs by Acting Mayor Ned Massa.

A 55-year-old Lisbon man paid a fine of $15 and costs in Lisbon Mayor Wilbur Warren's court on a charge of following another vehicle too closely after a mishap at 4:45 p.m. Saturday.

Patrolmen reported the Lisbon man, Charles Roth, was cited after he ran into the rear of another auto driven by Charles Copenhaver, 48, of Pittsburgh on Route 45, two miles north of Lisbon.

Only minor damage resulted from the collision and no one was hurt.

Another motorist was cited to the Municipal Court in East Liverpool on a charge of failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

After a two-car smash-up on Route 7, two tenths of a mile east of Wellsville at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Patrolmen said the motorist, Donald Morrow, Jr., 23, of Wellsville, was cited after he struck the rear of another car driven by Ronald Haddock, 17, also of Wellsville.

Haddock was stopped when the mishap occurred.

No one was injured and only minor damage sustained by the cars, patrolmen said.

A three-car collision at 11:10 a.m. Saturday on Route 14, one-tenth mile south of its junction with Route 7, damaged the vehicles slightly.

The autos were operated by Robert Marshall, 25, of Ellwood City, Pa., Doris Reash, 25, of East Palestine and Oliver Seering, 38, of Oakland, Ill.

Seering was cited by patrolmen for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead and was released after he posted a $10 bond in Columbiana Mayor Walter Thomas' court.

A similar mishap occurred on Route 30, four-tenths mile east of Lisbon, at 10:40 p.m. Sunday.

Wilmer Jones, 42, of 550 Columbia St. was arrested for following another vehicle too closely after his auto ran into the rear end of a car driven by Willard Parsons, 37, of Oskosh, Wis.

Patrolmen said Parsons had slowed for the traffic ahead when Jones ran into him.

Area Girl Reported Missing Since Friday

LISBON — Mrs. Ida Reynolds of the Franklin Square Road reported to the sheriff's office Saturday her daughter, Betty Lou, 17, has been missing from home since Friday evening.

The girl is six feet tall, weighs 160 pounds and has blonde hair and blue eyes.

Meanwhile, Mrs. C. L. Tucker of Hanoverton said her 14-year-old son, reported missing last Wednesday, was located Saturday at the home of a brother in Wellsville.

MAY ACT ON MERGER

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education is expected to take some action on the consolidation of Knox, West and United Local School districts at a meeting Tuesday night at 8 at the courthouse.

Six Persons Fined

By Mayor Of Lisbon

LISBON — Five motorists were fined a total of $50 and costs on traffic charges and a Washingtonville man, $25 and costs on an assault and battery charge at hearings over the weekend before Mayor Wilbur Warren.

James M. Schollaert of Union Town, Pa., William J. Estep of Lorain and Robert L. Strickler of Summitville were each fined $10 and costs for crossing the yellow line.

Helen F. Lindsey of Youngstown was fined $10 and cost for passing at an intersection and Daniel Rice of Wellsville, $10 and costs for making an improper left turn.

All were cited by Salem State Highway Patrolmen.

Don Roseberg was fined on the assault and battery charge after he was arrested Saturday night on N. Market St. by Lisbon police.

carried by the plane and still unaccounted for.

Several entire families were on the liner.

The pilot, Capt. William Word of Oakland, Calif., a veteran trans-Pacific flier, reported in by Radio Saturday night with no mention of trouble. There were no further messages.

Some of those aboard were civilian workers, their wives and families, en route from Guam to the United States for summer vacations.

One passenger was an employee of the airline, Charles Gallop of San Leandro, Calif. He was accompanied by his wife and two small children.

Another family included a Nebraska man, Fred Hansher, 29, of Newman Grove, his wife, and children, 3 and 6.

At its height yesterday, the huge search included more than 20 planes and 10 ships. They crisscrossed the bleak Pacific in a desperate race against approaching darkness.

Just before dark, the Barrett spotted the inflated life raft, which carried carbon dioxide bottles stamped with the initials "TAL," meaning Transocean Air Lines.

Acting Mayor Massa Fines Seven $225

Seven drivers paid a total of $225 and costs at hearings this weekend before Acting Mayor Ned Massa on various traffic charges following arrests by the State Highway Patrol.

Largest fine meted out was to Loren Shahan, 32, of Akron, charged with driving while intoxicated and driving alone on a temporary permit. He was fined $100 on the intoxication charge and $25 on the other count.

Fined for crossing the yellow center line were: William Anstead, 29, of Minerva, $10; Richard V. Mansfield, 33, of Poland, $15; John Leo Perrott, 24, of Columbiana, $10; Waldo Bland Hamric, 40, of Sawerwood, $10; and Leo G. Babie, 43, of Akron, $5.

Arthur J. Hall, 28, of Alliance was fined $50 for reckless driving.

Damage Slight In Fire At Rogers Man's Home

The Columbiana fire department was called to Rogers at 4:20 a.m. by a fire in the home of Harry Welch, who lives alone.

Some clothes on the floor had caught fire from an open grate, and an unidentified driver of a passing truck, seeing smoke issuing from the house, gave the alarm. Neighbors had put out the fire by the time the firemen had arrived.

Fire Chief Harvey Hisey of Columbiana said the damage was slight. Rogers has a fire-protection agreement with Columbiana.

Car Stolen In Lisbon Crashes Into House

LISBON — Lisbon police reported considerable damage was caused to an East Liverpool man's car after it was stolen Saturday night and was crashed by the culprits into a Lisbon home.

Police said the vehicle, owned by Gary Henthorne, was taken from its parking place on E. Lincoln Way and later abandoned at a service station after smashing into the home of Vernon Duke of 510 E. Lincoln Way. Only minor damage was caused to the home.

Mildew Rots Wood, Spoils Paint, Clothes

What is that musty smell you notice in a summer cottage that has been closed? You'll notice it also in basements — sometimes even in new houses.

It can cause wood to rot, spoil paint surfaces, ruin clothing, bedding, books, stored luggage and sports equipment.

Being a form of mold — a fungus that can grow on dead matter — it is dependent on dampness and warmth. That's why you may find it so quickly in new houses — because moisture is retained in building materials, in the concrete work, the mortar, plaster, etc. This mold is planted by spores carried in the dust in the air. Unless its formation is prevented or eliminated, mildew can do irreparable damage.

But sunlight and dry air will kill it, so usually it is not difficult to get rid of it. The first step is to remove all causes of dampness wherever possible.

IN SOME CASES dampness is caused by excessive condensation. T. McS. of Cincinnati reports a serious example of this type. He recently bought a solid masonry house — "a wire-cut brick house about 12 years old," he says. He is bothered with mildew in his built-in kitchen cabinets and in closets "from top to bottom."

Very apparently condensation is the root of his problem. He says: "During a cold spell my living room walls were wet. The walls are not furred. The cellar itself is not damp looking. The frame of the garage door was so rotted away that I removed it and water just poured from the blocks." He wants to know if a waterproof coating might remedy the condition. That is doubtful, unless there is definite evidence of seepage from the outside by capillary action. If such were the case, a good transparent waterproof coating could be used. But his solid masonry construction, without furring, seems to be a dead giveaway for condensation.

To control condensation in structures of solid masonry construction is especially difficult.

EXTENSIVE STUDIES in the prevention of mildew were made by the General Electric Consumers' Institute at Bridgeport, Conn. After experiments, the researchers recommended:

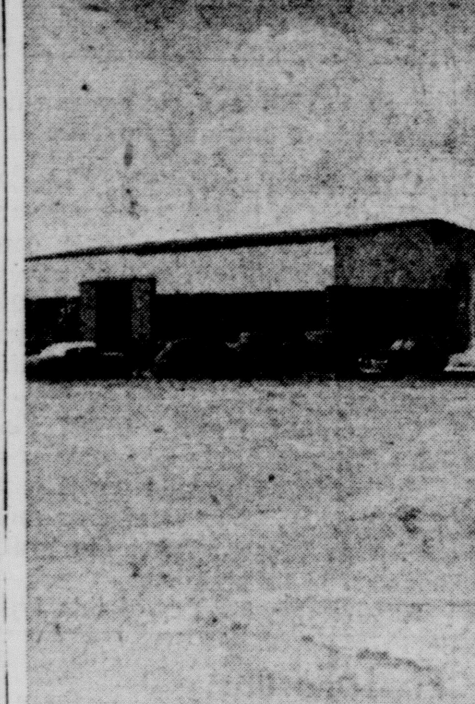

1. If musty odors in basements do not disappear after a house is well heated and dried, and the basement well ventilated, sprinkle chloride of lime over the basement floor and let it stand until all mustiness vanishes.

2. In purchasing cotton shower curtains, awnings, tents or sails, be sure the material has been treated with chemicals to render it mildew-resistant.

3. Books in a closed bookcase can be kept from mildewing if they are dusted from time to time with small amounts of paraformaldehyde, or a small electric lamp can be burned in the bookcase to keep it warm and dry.

4. Closet doors and dresser drawers can be left open occasionally on dry days to keep moisture from collecting and to stir up the enclosed air. An electric fan should be directed in places that cannot be exposed to outdoor breezes on dry days.

5. Musty closets can be freshened by burning a small electric lamp continuously, or by placing an open container of solid calcium chloride in the closet and keeping an open container of solid calcium chloride in the closet and keeping the door closed.

DEHYDRATION and sunlight, of course, are the two fundamental weapons for fighting mildew. You can't get sunlight into all corners of a house, so ventilation and artificial dry warmth are about the only expedients.

The General Electric experimenters warn that a house should not be ventilated for mildew except when the outdoor is cooler and drier than the indoor air — on a cool evening when the humidity is relatively low. They recommend that if such thorough airing proves insufficient the house may be heated for a short time. Then the doors and windows can be opened to let out the warmed air that has absorbed extra moisture. Electric fans speed up that transfer

MAKE REMODELING EASY. Room-remodeling projects pose no insoluble or costly problems to "Mr. Fixit" if he uses prefabricated wallpanels. As so many home handymen have discovered, this paneling is relatively easy to apply. Decoration-minded housewives like the material, too, because of its delightful decoration and time-saving cleanliness.

RANGE NEAR SINK. Location of the kitchen range near the sink is the most convenient arrangement, according to research workers at the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell University.

Color Vital To Decoration Of Exterior

"Exterior decoration" is taking its place with "interior decoration" as a familiar household term. An ever-increasing variety of colorful materials now permits the home owner to style the outside of his house, as well as the inside, in keeping with his own individual taste.

Chief among colorful exterior materials is roofing. Asphalt shingles which are used on 8 of 10 new homes built today, are made in numerous colors, which range from soft pastels to more familiar hues.

Here are some suggestions on roof color use:

In new construction or when the exterior of an older house is being reconditioned, the procedure used by professional color designers is to choose the roof color first and then select other colors to go with it. The roof is considered to be a permanent "background" color for the exterior.

Color is useful in achieving uniformity of appearance in a group of buildings. A house and a garage, or the buildings in a farmstead, should have matching roofs.

Light-colored roofing makes a house seem taller, and darker roofing makes it seem lower. These effects are helpful in improving poor architectural proportions.

For houses in the country, earthy red colors and foliage greens — colors of nature — are often selected. For a house in an industrial area, remember that slate grays and gray-greens don't readily show dirt.

Washingtonville

The Bethel Class of the Methodist Church held its monthly meeting in the social room of the church with a covered dinner for the 30 members present.

At the business session the following women were named to help serve at the Firemen's Festival on July 17: Mrs. Donald Vignon, Mrs. Robert Votaw, Mrs. Harold Rohrer, Mrs. John Volpe, Mrs. Clifford Herron, Mrs. Vance Atkinson, Mrs. Robert Kornbau, Mrs. Robert Carlisle, Mrs. Harve Bush, Mrs. William Radler, Mrs. Donald McGaffick, Mrs. Russel Smith and Miss Eunice Stouffer.

Monday evening the women will be guests of the manager of the Columbiana Manos Theater, and will meet at the church at 6:30 for transportation. Bingo and games followed the dinner.

The August meeting will be in the form of a wiener roast when the class will entertain the Brownie Troop which the class sponsors. The Pythian Sisters will hold a benefit card party in their hall on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gutchall are the parents of a daughter born Wednesday at Salem City Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Gutchall of Leetonia are the grandparents.

The Volunteer Firemen will hold their annual lawn festival on the Lutheran Church lawn on July 17. In case of rain it will be held July 18. Any person desiring to donate may call Leetonia 8371. Co-chairmen of the committee are Robert Boston and E. J. Savage.

The Washingtonville Volunteer Fire Department recently elected officers as follows: Chief, George Boston; assistant chief, Frank Stouffer; captain, Robert Sanders; sergeants Karl Rohrer and Joseph Versace; president, E. J. Savage; vice president, William Longenecker, Jr.; secretary, Robert Boston, and treasurer, Lloyd Berg.

The firemen have reminded local residents that now is the time to check chimneys and flues to make sure they are in safe condition for the coming winter.

A special meeting for inspection of Garfield Grange was announced for August 13, when members met Wednesday evening.

A good attendance is required for the next meeting, July 22, to vote for a delegate to the State grange convention.

The third and fourth degrees were given by Maggie Hahlen by obligation and a report of the Firemen's meeting was given by Miss Mattie Kutz.

The program was opened by singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Roll call was answered by naming vacation places in Ohio. "Old MacDonald had a Farm" was sung in closing.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrow spent Tuesday at Cooks Forest, Pa., and Wednesday along the Ohio and Muskingum Rivers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stanley called on Rev. and Mrs. Murray Amment and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Emery of Alliance Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Oswald, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cristensen and Mr. and Mrs. Melford Landwert of Salem spent Saturday at Saybrook Park.

Mrs. Donald Oswald reviewed the book "The White Witch Doctor" at a meeting of the Missionary Societies of the Winona Friends Church Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Victor Lussier and Mr. and Mrs. William Weingart all of Riverside, Calif., called on Mrs. Robert Maurer Tuesday.

Pvt. and Mrs. Curtis Mosher of Breckenridge, Ky., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bayless and Rev. and Mrs. Robert Mosher.

Mrs. Myron Goff of Mount Pleasant returned home Monday after spending a week at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stanley. Myron Goff and Charlotte visited at the Stanley home Sunday.

Home Ownership Here Is High

Findings Based On Census Of Housing

A greater proportion of Salem's population own the homes they live in and the homes are more modern and in better repair than are dwellings in most parts of the country.

Such are the findings of the U.S. Department of Commerce, based on the recent national Census of Housing. The results are now being made public.

Of the 3,987 occupied dwelling units in the city, 65 percent are owned by their occupants. This compares favorably with the national figure for cities, which shows 51 percent home ownership. Among all cities in the State of Ohio the average is 57 percent.

Better economic conditions locally in the past decade have made it possible for more people to satisfy the urge to acquire their own homes, it is pointed out.

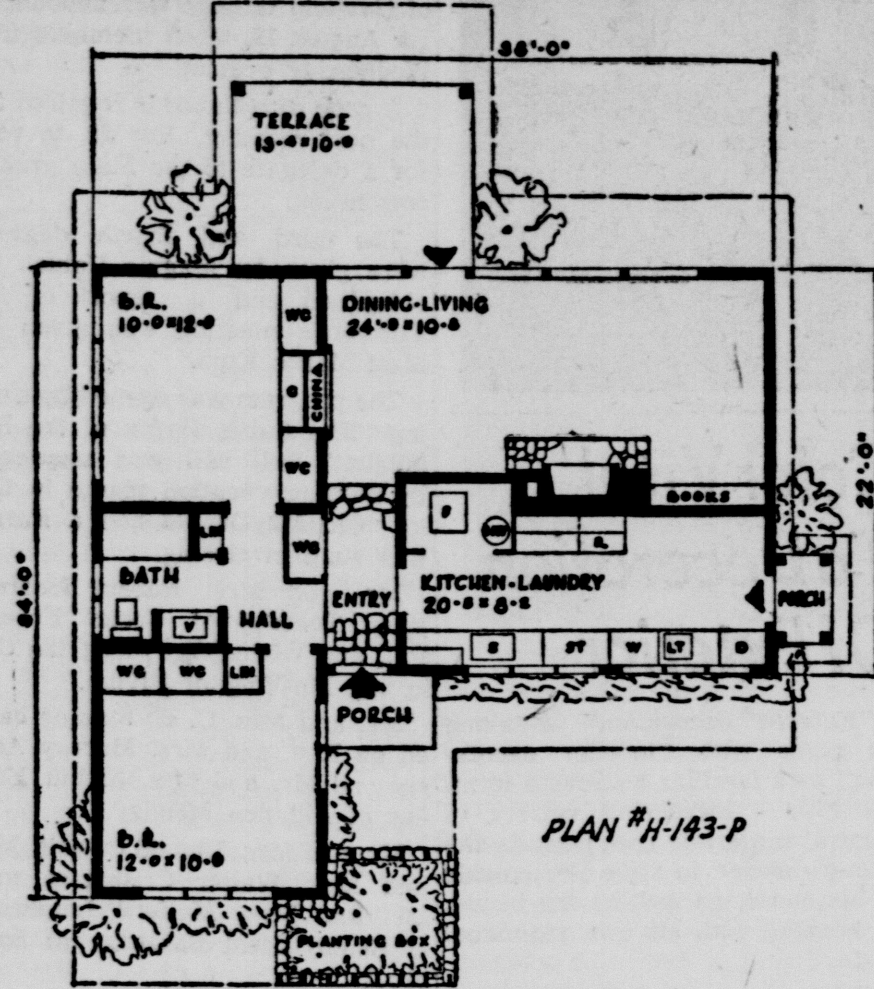

As a result of the building boom of recent years and the remodeling of many old houses, a larger proportion of dwellings in Salem than ever before can now boast of having central heating. The percentage is 85. This is more than is reported for the other cities throughout the country, an average of 50 percent. For all cities in Ohio it is 67 percent.

Another of the great conveniences of modern living — mechanical refrigeration — is also to be found in abundance in Salem. The census figures show that 92 percent of the homes have it. It is less common elsewhere in the United States, 80 percent, and in the State, 86 percent.

More common, also, in Salem, than in most communities are homes with running hot and cold water, flush toilets and bath. The count shows 84 percent of the dwellings with these features. The average for the nation is 64 percent. For Ohio it is 70 percent.

With the housing shortage still with us, despite the construction activity of the last few years, the value of one-family dwellings has been rising steadily. The report shows that the median value of non farm, owner-occupied units in the United States has reached $7,400.

The ruby-throated hummingbird beats its wings about 75 times a second.

HOW A SMALL FAMILY or retired couple can enjoy glamorous living in an economical house is demonstrated in this two-bedroom plan with a 24-foot living dining area facing the rear garden. This house needs no basement. It covers only 989 square feet. The design H-143-P is by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich.

Evergreen Gardens Perennially Beautiful

The gardener who would like to have more than a bare yard and calloused hands to remind himself of summer beauty, might borrow an idea from his colonial ancestors and plant an evergreen garden. This is the suggestion of Alden Hopkins, landscape architect for Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Hopkins has, for the past nine years, supervised restoration of the historic city's 18th Century gardens.

The 18th Century Virginia garden was predominantly a green affair, full of boxwood, holly, hemlock, cedar, magnolia and live oak. In spring and early summer it was colorful with the blooms of annuals and perennials but even after the flowers faded it was still a lush garden with its design permanently fixed in evergreens. It had flowers in season but it didn't depend on them.

How you use evergreens is important, Hopkins points out. "Don't scatter them about aimlessly or they won't do very much for your garden. Just like flowers, they should always be planted according to some plan or design."

The plan is completely up to you, the landscape architect says. Evergreens grow in all shapes and sizes, from little low ivy to stately live oak, and permit almost endless garden variety.

They can be used for patterns, edgings, backgrounds, screens, accents, ground covers and, in the case of plants like magnolia or azalea, even for colorful springtime flowers.

Evergreens have still other virtues. They flourish equally well in northern and southern exposures, keep the ground cooler in summer and provide a windbreak for winter. They are also easier to grow than flowers in a hot climate, and that's why the Virginia colonists used them so much.

girders and beams to be sure they are straight and free from cracks. Check spacing and size of joists to determine whether they are adequate. Test their condition, — if a knife blade digs easily through such framing members, it may indicate dry rot or termites.

Check for crawl space if the basement does not extend the length of the house, and the material used in the floor. A good drainage system helps assure a dry basement and walls free from cracks.

Many buyers learn what kind of heating system and fuel are used, but fail to look inside the furnace, says Battles. Poor condition of grates and linings may mean costly replacing.

It Pays To Be Nosey When Buying House

It pays to be nose-y when buying an old house, says K. V. Battles, extension agricultural engineer at Ohio State University.

First, locate the builder, if possible, to learn if the house was properly constructed, says Battles. Try to get a copy of the original plans and specifications for information not otherwise available.

Next, study a book on house construction for information on structural factors to examine. Some of these books contain a check list — copy it and use it when inspecting the house.

Finally, says Battles, make a thorough tour of inspection, beginning in the basement. Inspect main

Try Variety Of Finishes On Fir Plywood

What with working plans, patterns and drawings becoming increasingly available for the building of furniture and storage units, more home craftsmen are using fir plywood for its easy workability and advantages.

Here are some suggestions from the Douglas Fir Plywood Association on different types of finishes to use on plywood units. These finishes, of course, are applicable to other types of wood in most cases.

Opaque Paint Finish — First seal the wood with a heavy coat of clear resin sealer or shellac. Sand it lightly when dry and brush on a flat oil or lacquer primer. Sand lightly when dry and brush on two coats of color.

Parachute Finish — This finish is applied over a solid opaque paint coating. Start with a color of slightly darker value than the solid coating and thin it with linseed oil and turpentine. Flow this color on the solid finish quite freely, then spread it evenly with a rag or cheesecloth. While it is still wet, dapple or stipple the surface with a clean, ruffled rag.

When finish is dry, spray surface with a thin coating of flat lacquer or brush on a thin coat of white shellac.

Spatter Finish — One way to do this is to spray several successive spatter colors from an insect spray gun. Another is to use a long-bristled brush, get a little paint on it and then tap it on a stick over the is obtained by first whitening the panel with a coat of interior white undercoat thinned with one part paint and one part thinner. To allow more grain to show through, the surface is sanded.

For spatter finish use insect spray gun or long-bristled brush.

Color-Toned Wood - Grain Finish — Simply apply two coats of a tinted resin sealer and top it with a coat of flat white varnish or shellac. This finish softens the grain contrast in fir plywood.

Q—Should plaster be applied directly to the interior of brick walls?

A—No, this practice is likely to cause plaster to disintegrate and paint to peel from attacks by moisture penetrating the walls. Such walls should be furred out to leave a dead-air space between plaster and brick.

Yeast Keeps Sewer Systems In Order

Many home owners are finding out that ordinary active yeast, either in dry or compressed cake form, is helping to keep down maintenance problems in their individual sewage disposal systems.

Sanitation engineers explain that bacterial action is necessary to keep the contents of septic tanks and other disposal systems in a fluid state. Yeast, which contributes greatly to the supply of digestive bacteria in the tank, keeps the whole sanitation system operating properly.

Ten cakes or envelopes of the active yeast, which is available at most grocery stores, will usually be sufficient to "start" a new tank. Depending on the size of the tank and the volume of waste, one envelope should be flushed into the tank every one to three weeks.

DAMPNESS UNDER FLOORS

It is of real importance to avoid sealed in dampness under hardwood floors, especially when laid in large areas. Proper waterproofing and good air circulation are prime requirements. Provision should be made for expansion joints and air vents, if possible, around all walls to augment air circulation under the floor.

In Italy hotels are divided into four classes, luxury, first, second and third, there being only 40 of the luxury class.

Home Can Be Made Good Place In Which To Die Quick Death

A good way to break your neck lightly as whisking off a bug. It seems that preventing accidents is uninteresting. It would be so much more exciting to know how to cause them.

So here are some tried and tested tips on how to hurt yourself plenty right in your own home. These tips will enable you to use your hospitalization plan and some will give your dependents lump sum payments from your life insurance.

These are very sound tips, because they killed off more than 28,000 persons in the past year and injured more than 4 million. In fact, they are so effective that they have prompted the National Association of Home Builders to try to spoil this gruesome sport by urging its members to build more accident-free homes this year.

"How many people met accidental death or suffered injury in homes that you built last year?" the association asked its members. Then its Design and Construction Committee enumerated safety measures which catch the imagination better when we turn them around. So here's how:

BANG YOURSELF up in the bedroom. This doesn't have to be the safe place it seems. Design this room and place its furniture so there can't be a straight unimpeded path between door and bed and you'll have lots of excitement. Place your electrical outlets as far as possible from beds, lamps, heating pads or electric blankets and you'll have cords galore to trip over. Never provide any fire refuge for upper floor bedrooms.

Skip on your closets and other storage space so you'll have thousands of items to obstruct halls, floors and stairs. Place no lights in closets—try matches or candles instead. And be sure to have closet shelves, hooks and rods of the flimsiest type—when they break, they'll most likely connect with your eye.

And for upstairs windows, you'll find that window sills less than 30 inches from the floor are very thrilling. When a window sticks slightly, then gives way quickly, you can lose your balance and take a header. It's silly to have windows that can be cleaned from the inside because it's much easier to fall when sitting out on the sill. And grilles across the windows of a nursery or bedrooms for teetery older people only cage persons in.

BATHROOMS can be enlivened considerably by never placing sturdy grab bars above the tub and in the shower. Electric light switches near the bathtub or lavatory are much more clever than an electric chair, especially when you have a wet hand. And for a real back breaker, try a slippery bathroom floor.

Among the more refined ways to fracture vertebrae are by using stairs. Winding stairs and any stairs without handrails, lacking anti-slip coverings and preferably without lights work the best. Make the treads less than 9 1/2 inches deep and for an added hazard let the ceiling hang down less than 6 feet, 8 inches above the tread. Have a door opening directly at the head of stairs or steps to catch the unwary. Or plan your upstairs bathroom where anyone approaching it from a bedroom in the dark will pass the stairs and possibly pitch down.

IF THESE PERILS sound too tame, try the subtle contrivance of inadequate electrical wiring. This carries a higher guarantee of mishaps, because 70 per cent of all house casualties are falls and collisions with objects and many of these can be caused by poor lighting. Improper wiring or faulty fixtures also open up the way for more shocks and burns. String as many cords as possible to every electric outlet. If the fuse fails, use a heavier fuse until you burn the house down.

But of course, you can get the best accident batting average of all in the kitchen. "Statistics say this is the most dangerous room in the house," the builders were told. You can keep it that way by cluttering up the work aisle, compelling the housewife to pivot in her steps on a slippery floor, make it easy to get burned at the stove, and have cabinet doors that open where they can gouge any body's scalp.

Among those attending the county W.C.T.U. Institute and picnic at Firestone Park on July 8 were county president, Mrs. Donald Mayhew, Mrs. Sina Megrall, Rev. Lydia Brantingham, Miss Josephine Dunn, Mrs. Willard Pim, Miss Melva Outland, Miss Yvonne Cunningham, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Miss Nancy Lloyd and Mrs. Loren Gear.

Miss Coffee, a student at O.S.U. in Columbus, majoring in occupational therapy, had been doing clinical affiliation work at Wilmington, Del., and was enroute to the Indiana University Medical Center, Indianapolis to continue her work.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Weaver of Cleveland were recent weekend guests of Mrs. Florence Moore. Mrs. Weaver remained for a visit with Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Warren Brown in Salem.

Donald Coffee, a camp counselor at Camp Nelson Dodd at Brinkhaven spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Coffee.

The Who Listen Club members met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Donald Murphy.

The group enjoyed crazy bridge with prizes going to Mrs. Dan Kleon, Mrs. Curt Ward and Mrs. Donald Coppock.

Mrs. Dan Kleon, who had a July birthday, was honored with a gift from the group.

Mrs. Mary Louise Ward of Salem was a guest. The August meeting will be held with Mrs. Curt Ward. The daughter born on July 3 at Salem City Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Arthur has been named Linda Jean.

There were eight in the group when a few neighbors honored Mrs. Sina Megrall on her 81st birthday July 6. The afternoon was spent socially. Lunch was served.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Sina Megrall were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Allen, Mrs. Jesse Pottorf and Mrs. Bertha Hoopes of Salem.

Rev. and Mrs. Larkin Hadley of Cleveland spent a few days here. They visited Rev. Pearl McLaughlin, Mrs. Sina Megrall and Mrs. Lizzie Whinery.

Solve Storage Problem With Built-In Units

A most common complaint of home owners in these days of basementless and atticless houses is the lack of adequate storage areas. But this fault is, more often than not, one of poor design, rather than of too-little actual space for storage.

In other words, it isn't so much the size of the storage place that counts, it's the way stored articles are arranged in the space. If the enclosure is of awkward dimensions then the articles can't be stored practically or conveniently.

This is not to say that size (or volume) of storage space is unimportant. On the contrary, it is vital. But size alone isn't the measure of efficient storage.

Most homes have coat and linen closets, clothes closets for each bedroom and cabinets for kitchen and bathroom supplies. But some of this space is often wasted because it cannot be used to best advantage.

These are the homes in which the vacuum cleaner and other cleaning supplies have to be stored at the back of coat closets, where the housewife must burrow for them. There's likely to be a card table there, too, and a tennis racket propped up in a corner. Other odds and ends are stored in chests.

Something can be done about the whole unhappy situation, even in built-in storage units. Built-in units save space by reducing the number of pieces of storage-type furniture to a minimum, the University of Illinois Small Homes Council points out.

Occupying the same or less floor space than chests, dressers and wardrobes, built-ins may extend to the ceiling, offering that much more storage area.

The University of Illinois found that such units offer maximum accessibility of all items stored, efficient use of space for storage, economy in construction and flexibility. It puts particular stress on flexibility.

The principle of the built-in unit is that articles are "easy to see, easy to reach and easy to grasp." It is recommended that none of the units be more than 24 inches deep. In fact, three depths—12, 16 and 24 inches—are most practical and economical.

The 12-inch depth is for dinnerware, books, toys; the 16-inch depth for cleaning equipment, radio-recorder player, desk supplies, etc.; the 24-inch depth for clothing, linens, card tables etc.

The width of the built-in may be determined by the width of the largest article to be stored in it, or by the number of articles it will have to hold. Height is variable. Units may be adapted to window or door levels, may be free-standing or of ceiling height. None should be higher than 72 inches.

To provide flexibility, adjustable shelves are recommended for built-in units. The shelves should not be evenly spaced, but adjusted as far apart as the tallest article placed on each shelf, or slightly farther.

Full-front opening is most efficient. Sliding, folding or hinged doors may be used. Drawers should be as shallow as possible for the type of article to be stored.

The simplest storage units are little more than boxes and are flexible in that they may be combined in many ways. In combination they may form partitions between rooms.

Floor-to-ceiling built-in storage units provide maximum convenient space for storage and occupy little floor area.

There is a variety of plans and specifications available today for building storage units. Your lumber dealer can help you. He may even have such units pre-cut and ready for assembly.

Hot Pacific Puzzles Scientists

By NORMAN BELL

LA JOLLA, Calif. — Ocean scientists don't expect any quick answer to a new puzzle: What makes the Pacific's bottom so hot? Nor do they look for any early explanation to another mystery: Why is the sea's floor so thin?

Dr. Roger Revelle, director of the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, thinks when the answers are given they may show a relationship.

He and other scientists also believe that they may also read to revision of some of the theories about the composition of the earth's interior.

TEMPERATURE measurements by Revelle and Arthur E. Maxwell during a recent expedition into the South Pacific confirmed that the heat flow from the deep bottom was about the same as from continental land areas.

This confirmed measurements by Maxwell during a north Pacific expedition in 1950. The discovery then was so surprising that it was questioned by some scientists.

Heat radiated from continental surfaces is largely due to disintegration of uranium and other radioactive material in the granite crust. But under the deep sea there is no granite and, so scientists believe, no heat-producing disintegration.

Revelle suggested the bottom heat may be a welling up from the earth's core and that at some periods it may have become so intense as to melt part of the ocean floor.

This, he added, might account for the apparent disappearance of bottom sediments covering a period of 29 hundred million years.

HE ESTIMATED that existing sediments, averaging 600 feet over the Pacific basin, represent deposits of material eroded from continents, volcanic and atmospheric dust and remains of sea plants and creatures over a period of only 10 million years.

The calculation is based on the scientific concept that the earth and its oceans have existed for three billion years.

Always, at the bottom, there is a steady rain of the material that forms the sediments but in a thousand years, by estimates of its present rate of deposition, only one-third of an inch would be added.

Depths of the sediments and rocks beneath them were measured through sounds of submarine explosions. The speed with which sediments and rocks transmitted the sound revealed their density.

Two ships, one setting off the explosions and the other listening with hydrophones 40 or 50 miles away over the horizon, took part in this seismic survey under direction of Dr. Russel W. Raitt.

The survey disclosed that the earth's crust beneath the sea, including the deposits and very dense rock, was about four miles thick — remarkably thin compared to the crust of approximately five times that thickness under the continents.

The crust ends under both oceans and continents at what is known as the Mohorovicic discontinuity. Beneath that is still denser rock down to the earth's core.

On the Scripps' expeditions special devices also were used to measure heat flow from the bottom.

Premium List Out For Canfield Fair

The 107th annual premium list of the Canfield Fair has been released for distribution by the Board of Directors of the Mahoning County Agricultural Society, Fair Board Secretary E. R. Zieger said today. The fair will run from Sept. 3 through 7.

In this Ohio Sesquicentennial year, the Canfield Fair will stage its 107th annual showing of Mahoning County's pageant of progress, featuring a premium list of some $22,000 in awards in nearly fifty classes of exhibits.

Some changes have been made in the premium list, following conferences with exhibitors at the 1952 and earlier fairs, in order that the competition may be to the satisfaction of the exhibitors. Among the changes listed are additions to the tractor rodeo and hay show classes. In addition to the men's and women's tractor rodeos of recent years, an open contest is being featured which accepts entries among either men or women, 25 years of age and over, from anywhere in the United States.

In Class 40, the hay show, a chopped hay exhibit has been added to the classes displayed in earlier years.

The 1953 Canfield Fair premium list is a 74-page booklet bearing the Ohio Sesquicentennial seal on its front cover. Prospective exhibitors may secure copies by writing to E. R. Zieger, secretary, at 1404 Central Tower, Youngstown.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The Doctor Answers

Although I have repeatedly emphasized the importance of heeding warning signals, sometimes this can be overdone.

Q—I am 86 years old and three years ago was stricken with heart trouble. My question now is, are there any warning symptoms felt before an attack of cerebral hemorrhage?

For the last six months I have had sharp stabbing pains in my head at intervals.

A—It is unlikely that the pains across your head to shadow a stroke. Generally, there is no recognizable warning before an attack of cerebral hemorrhage and the best thing is not to worry about it.

Q—About four years ago I was operated on for appendicitis, and since then all my friends tell me I can never become a mother, although I am in fine health. Is this true?

A—The removal of an appendix alone would not cause sterility. Q—My four-year-old boy finds watching television hurts his eyes. Should I consult an eye doctor about this?

A—Perhaps the boy is just not interested in television. You should observe him carefully and if it really does seem to be his eyes which keep his attention away, he should be examined.

Q—Three years ago I had a gallbladder operation. Not long ago I became allergic and developed blisters and itching of my skin.

I am 60 years old and never had this skin trouble until after the operation. Is there any connection? A—It seems unlikely that the gallbladder operation is the cause of the present skin trouble. The interval between the operation and the development of the blisters and itching is probably too long for any relationship.

Probably the best way to go about this problem is to make allergy tests or other examinations to see if the cause of the skin trouble cannot be more definitely identified.

Q—A recent school health examination said that my seven-year-old son had undescended testicles. Is this serious in a boy of this age, and what should be done for it?

A—The youngster should be taken to a physician who may want to give the boy some hormone injections which often succeed in remedying this condition.

If the testes have not descended in a few years they should be brought down by operation before the beginning of puberty.

Q—Is it true that the use of aluminum chloride or preparations containing this substance to check underarm perspiration leads to cancer of the breast?

A—No, it is not true. This chem-

• You might have witnessed this scene with your own eyes. And you, too, might have reacted in the same way — "Jehosaphat! Will the kid be okay?"

But even though you were right at the spot, chances are that you had to turn to a newspaper to get the whole story.

Then, for the first time, you'd learn that the child's leg was caught in a water pipe . . . that firemen cut the pipe first, and then removed it after greasing the child's leg. You'd know that the kid did come out okay.

Being on the spot is not much better than seeing a photograph of the action, or a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

That's what the newspaper is for. Newspapers bring news—pictures and sufficient words.

tion because I couldn't talk.

A—This is an unusual kind of aphasia. It sounds as though it could certainly come from some physical cause, and a thorough examination by a nerve specialist as soon as possible would certainly be desirable.

Q—For the past three years I have been slowly losing my hearing. I have been to two doctors and both have suggested an operation which they say will restore my hearing to normal. Can you tell me anything of this operation?

A—This probably refers to what is known as the "fenestration" operation. This is an extremely delicate operation involving making a kind of a window in the inner portion of the ear. Many surgeons who have had experience with the operation achieve a high proportion of good results, though it cannot be said to be always successful.

Q—Would diet or exercise reduce heavy ankles?

A—Diet might reduce the ankles in proportion to that reduction in weight brought about by loss of fat in other parts of the body. Exercise probably would be of no avail.

Q—I have read that there is a special diet for gaining weight in the breasts. Can you tell me what this is?

A—There is no special diet for this purpose. The farthest faint star which can be seen by the Palomar telescope is believed to be seen by light which has been traveling toward the earth for two billion years at the rate of about 186,000 miles a second.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — In regular cycles one can observe the quiet and undramatic beginning of events which soon enough will propel some slogan, some strange set of initials, or even a single word, into the symbol of a sensational development.

That's just what's occurring right now. While the Republican high command is discussing its strategy for capturing some part of the labor vote to save Congress for Eisenhower next year, the labor leaders are quietly, virtually unnoticed, reaching for a powerful bloc of 13,000,000 voters. If this group can be welded into a single force, the union chiefs will be able to make and break national elections.

They plan to do it around the word "pensions."

THERE ARE now 13,000,000 men and women over 65 in this country. That is one out of every 12 persons. This age group grows at the rate of 400,000 a year. In fact, the over-65 group — and you can't call it the old age bloc any more, because of modern medical science — has quadrupled in the past 50 years while the general population has only doubled.

To weld these older folk behind the unions — as well as to give the retired unionists an easier life — the labor chiefs are preparing to push for higher pensions for retired workers.

The goal may soon go up to $250 to $300 a month including Social Security.

In addition, there are unions which are actually building old age villages, regular social clubs to match the Union League Club, political groups which may be working with the Townsends and a "union" of retired workers to lobby for them.

MOST ACTIVE on this unpublished front is the CIO's United Auto Workers International Union, led by Walter Reuther.

Reuther revealed at the last convention that the UAW had 24,000 members drawing $123 a month under union contracts.

Some years ago, when there were just some 5,000 of these retired auto people all over the country, a chap by the name of Frank Tuttle launched a Retired Auto Workers Organization (RAO) in Detroit. By early 1953 some 3,000 retired auto workers held an annual Christmas Party at the Michigan State Fair Grounds.

Six weeks later, thousands of others were meeting in five locations throughout Detroit to set up a more permanent outfit.

They got themselves a club — and for the first time in the world retired working folk had the luxury of a social center comparable to some run by business and professional men.

IN ONE AREA they set up "Drop In" clubs, where those over 65 who never belonged to a union could come and mix with the retired CIO pensioners. Soon this was picked up by the CIO Textile Workers Union and other labor units.

These have a massive goal, indeed. There are now 4,000,000 union workers whose contracts call for retirement pensions similar to those established by Reuther — who soon after his return from Europe will bear down hard on this front. His big drive will be for increased pensions, since the uncertainty of our economy may wipe out chances for higher wages in his future contract campaigns.

ANOTHER CIO official, the pipe-smoking slim Jim Carey, now graying along with his colleagues who always thought of him as the youngster in their midst, has an even more daring pension plan tucked away in the master demands of his International Union of Electrical Workers.

"Early Retirement: — All workers 55 and older with 15 or more years service should be entitled to early retirement, the Carey program says.

"We have this in the vast majority of our negotiated plans. Also workers 50 and older with 10 or more years service should get vested rights."

AT THE Nash - Kelvinator plant, the Auto Union has, without fanfare, worked out a formula which will enable workers to put in just a few years in one factory, move to another installation run by another firm in another city — and still retain pension rights in a sort of national pool.

The Nash - Kelvinator contract just signed says that workers employed there 10 years who move to another corporation add their Nash pension payments to their new pension plan.

This contract will be the vogue rather than the rarity in less than a decade.

Therefore, millions who now lose their pension rights when they move will accumulate retirement funds, even though they shift from city to city.

This will give labor a network of older folk who will actually be living on a union-contract pension.

In that there is, among many other things, great political potential. Watch the word "pensions." It will make big news soon enough.

SAYS STREAMS POLLUTED

BATAVIA, O. (AP)—Health Commissioner F. M. Oxley Friday declared all Clermont County streams are contaminated and advised residents and visitors to refrain from swimming in them.

Liquid petroleum as it comes from the ground sometimes is thick and sticky like syrup and sometimes light and volatile like gasoline.
